Antioch Fire Department passes trial by fires last Saturday

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Department passed the test for readiness when they answered the calls of two almost consecutive fires on Saturday.

The first call was for a car fire behind a building reported at 9:40 p.m. When firefighters arrived they found the car was fully engaged and it sat next to an above-ground fuel tank.

The firefighters attacked it on two fronts. One was to extinguish the car fire directly and the second task was too cool down the tank to avoid an explosion.

Deputy Chief Sakalowski said the First Engine Company to arrive did a great job by cooling the tank and knocking down the car fire. Fire Companies Two and Three were called in because there was a risk to nearby buildings.

The fire was suspicious in nature and the Antioch Police Department began an immediate investigation. Officers Norm Johnson and Chuck Smith found witnesses who had seen two people, one of whom had a road flare.

They followed up on the lead and arrested David Giacchetti, 20, of 333 North Ave., Antioch. Giacchetti told police he acted alone and had tossed a lighted flare at the car, thinking it would just go out.

Police Chief Chuck Fagan said the flare was found inside the car after the fire was extinguished.

Giacchetti was charged with two counts of arson, a class two felony. He was taken to the Lake County jail and bond was set at

There is a public hearing next week regarding the rezoning of residential property into commercial property at Bowles Road and Route 59. Current residents of the adjacent subdivision are concerned how this will change their neighborhood as opposed to the residential use that was originally planned for the entire area that the Pederson House occupies.

Vince and Arlene Tomasello have plans to build a restaurant and banquet hall on that property if the zon-ing is changed to commercial. Some of the land will also be used for townhomes rather than the hotel they had first envisioned. They are excited about their plans and thought area residents would be pleased as well.

Some people outside the affected area are concerned as well if a precedent is enacted on that land. By changing residential zoning to commercial zoning, some fear that could open the way for the same thing to happen in other Antioch neighborhoods that have residential zoning, some of which is undeveloped.

The public hearing will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday, in the village boardroom. Everyone who would like to speak will be given the opportunity. If the meeting runs long, it can be continued to another time, ensuring that everyone will have their allotted

After the plan commission has heard the answers to the questions asked by the audience as well as themselves, together they will decide on a recommendation to make to the village board.

The board will consider that rec-ommendation, probably ask the developers their own questions for clarification before they vote to either accept or deny the request for a change in zoning.

Students check out starry night

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

The Lake County Astronomy Society brought out their heavyduty equipment last week to guide the fifth-graders and their families through a sea of stars in the sky over Antioch Elementary School.

The night was chilly, but the sky was clear, and the 8-inch, 10-inch and 11-inch telescopes let the children see Mars, nebulas, star clusters and the Andromeda galaxy. Science teacher Julie Higginbotham, along with classroom teachers Josalyn Reed, Jennifer Kalmus and Frank Besette, listened to the descriptions and explanations provided by Mike Dziedzic and his fellow astronomers along with their classes.

"We'll be looking at a nebula in the eastern sky," Dziedzic said. "It looks like a cosmic doughnut, a Cheerio. When a star explodes it goes out like an hourglass. We're seeing that hourglass from the end. In the center we can see what is left of the giant red star that exploded."

Each individual was given an opportunity to see the image through the telescope.

The children were impressed by actually seeing what they had been studying in class, and taking advantage of the close proximity of Mars, a mere 35 million miles away.

"This is like 3D compared to a book," Amber Larson said. "We had to do a moon calendar every night showing the phases of the moon."

Hunter Corey said that looking at the stars was more fun than learning in the classroom. However, he did say that studying in books beforehand made it easier to learn when looking at the stars.

Members of the Lake County
Astronomy Club are all amateurs who meet once a month at Volo Bog Visitor's Center. The meetings are at 7:30 p.m. on the third Friday of the

Why the doors of Hofmann's Barber and Beauty shops closed

By Ginny Skweres Staff Reporter

Many customers of Hofmann's Beauty shop and Barbershop may wonder why the doors are locked and the snipping of hair has ceased. The decision to close was made only because there were no other options.

As a diabetic, Hans Hofmann had problems with the retinas of his eyes and needed surgery. That meant an abrupt close of the barbershop that did not allow time for an explanation to his customers, which he regrets.

He had surgery that went well on his left eye, but the surgery on his right eye needed to be done a second time.

As if his problems weren't enough, a few weeks later his wife, Kate, thought she needed knee replacement surgery. Unfortunately, the final diagnosis was cancer of the knee. She has been undergoing chemotherapy and tires easily.

Some say if you enjoy your job, you never have to work a day in your life. For Hofmann that was true, and now that he has not been able to work, it is something he misses.

The Hofmanns left Germany, where Hofmann had cut hair for about eight years. They moved to Chicago and he established himself and was again cutting hair, along with Kate, who worked in a beauty

The city of Chicago wanted to buy Hofmann's property, which he sold and reinvested in a site north of where he had been. Not too long after that, they discovered Silver Lake in Antioch and bought what was once a fishing shack on a lakefront parcel.

"In 1961 we bought the summer home and had to decide what to do," Hofmann said. "We decided to Kate and Hans Hofmann of Antioch cut and styled hair in their shops on North Avenue for 35 years until they were forced to close their doors for health reasons. Hans Hofmann clips away hair for a net and clean look.

sell my barbershop and move to the barbershop on North Avenue."

It took a little longer to sell Kate's beauty shop and the transition to Antioch took a couple of years which put an end to long commutes. They raised and remodeled the shack and turned it into a warm and cozy lakefront home with a view that changes with the seasons.

Hofmann did what he enjoyed and did best - he cut hair and ran his barbershop. In fact he has cut hair in Antioch for 35 years, making him active in his profession for more than 59 years. He was looking forward to celebrating his 60th year in the barber business next spring, but apparently that isn't to be.

"I had many long-time cus-tomers. I knew them by their face and their voice and they didn't need appointments," Hofmann said. "We were there for their convenience. I loved what I was doing."

In spite of these disappointments, the Hofmann's and their daughter Kathy remain upbeat and thankful for the blessings they have had and continue to have.

Customers with questions regarding Hofmann's retirement may contact his daughter Kathy Carter at 847-276-0646.

Revenge of the Sith author descends on Gurnee

Matthew Stover meets Lake County fans

By Kathy Gresey Staff Reporter

About 100 Star Wars fans and fanatics came out to Warren-Newport Public Library in Gurnee last Saturday to meet Revenge of the Sith author and unincorporated Lake County resident, Matthew Stover.

Stover's novel, based on Star Wars: Episode III, the movie, brings the Star Wars epic full circle—from the creation of Darth Vadar to the birth of Luke Skywalker and Princess Leia Organa.

The author has written two other Star Wars novels including Shatterpoint and Traitor. Though he loves the movies, originally, Stover said he wasn't interested in writing Star Wars fiction.

"My publisher approached me and basically made me an offer I couldn't refuse," he said. "I was given the script three months after the shooting of the film and had the benefit of a rather extended interview with George Lucas himself. Unfortunately for me, the shooting script is by no means the final script. (Lucas) can alter the story literally up until a few days before the release. It was a complex process."

Stover has been a Star Wars fan for decades and said he saw the original film and the Empire Strikes Back 20 times each when they were first released. Being a part of the Star Wars phenomenon has been amazing, he 'Just to be working with Star Wars at all was a tremendous privilege...'

> Matthew Stover Author and unincorporated Lake County resident

"I was a huge fan, what they now call a 'fan boy'," he said. "Just to be working with Star Wars at all was a tremendous privilege for me."

Currently, Stover is completing his novel Caine Black Knife, which he started before taking on Revenge of the Sith. Caine Black Knife is one book in a sequence of standalone novels including Heroes Die and Blade of Tyshalle, which blend science fiction together with other literary genres. .

Stover said many of his fans are waiting for the book to be released.

"I'm hoping that it will come out next summer," he said. "It's been a long time coming."

Holiday help is needed to make time jolly for all

ince we are in the early days of November, it is difficult to believe the holidays will soon be here, especially with the warm weather we've been enjoying. However, Thanksgiving is less than three weeks away and after that the Christmas holidays begin in earnest.

These holidays are either a wonderful celebration for most or a bitter experience for some. For those who are hungry, the frivolity seems to escape them.

Scott Keenan of the Open Arms Mission is concerned because the need has increased, but donations are down. In response to the natural disasters, people focused their giving on where the need was desperate, which was only appropriate, and that need continues.

However, Keenan said donations are down for this time of year, but the mission currently helps 150 neighborhood families each week, which includes many children and elderly.

The mission has three holiday giving programs. The holiday meal box costs $25 and will feed a family of eight and includes a 12 to 14pound turkey, plus the trimmings. This will be done for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Open Arms Mission is also sponsoring an Adopt-A-Family program for local families to provide gifts requested on a wish list by families in need. Residents can select a family of a specific size, do the shopping and wrapping and make it possible for them to find something under the tree.

The Mission will also have an annual community Thanksgiving dinner between noon and 2 p.m. on Nov. 24 at two locations. The Antioch location is at the Senior Center, 817 Holbek. A second location will be at the Lake Villa United Methodist Church, 110 McKinley and Grand avenues. RSVPs are requested but not required. Call 847-395-0309 to do so.

Keenan reminds individuals that cash donations are taxdeductible, and by giving now the mission would have time to stock their shelves. The mission's mailing list is PO Box 79, Antioch, IL, 60002 and more information is available at 847-395-0309.

The UPS Store and Mail Boxes Etc. have joined the efforts of the Marines Toys for Tots Foundation. The franchises will sell $1 donation cards beginning now and continuing through Dec. 23. Mail Boxes Etc. has contributed $50,000 toward the goal of $1 million.

More information is available on the Web sites www.theupsstore.com, www.mbe.com. and www.toysfortots.org.

the artwork." Eslinger noted. In addition, wine, cheese and other refreshments will be served.

The Antioch Fine Arts Foundation Gallery is located at 983 Main Street (Route 83) in Antioch, Illinois. The show will be on display through the end of November.

The foundation's membership includes artists and contemporary craftsmen from Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin in addition to patrons of the arts.

By sponsoring this event the foundation hopes to further its goal of promoting visual arts by exposing area residents to the artistic talent that lives throughout the community. Additional original art on display at the gallery includes works in watercolor, acrylics, glass, ceramic, wood, jewelry and a variety of other mediums.

Antioch Fine Arts Foundation is dedicated to furthering the creative efforts of its members while spreading knowledge and appreciation of the visual arts. This is accomplished by providing an environment, which fosters interaction with other artists and the community through public display of members' artwork coupled with art demonstrations, classes and workshops.

The gallery is open to the public and while donations are graciously accepted, admission to the gallery is free. For additional information please call 847-838-2274.

$35,000 in bond court. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Nov. 7.

Firefighters returned to the station at about 10:30 p.m. to replace the hoses and other fire fighting equipment. At 11:03 p.m., only a half hour after completing the first call, firefighters were called to a structure fire at 26071 Calhoun Ave., near Grass Lake Road and Broadway.

A two-story house was showing fire on all sides, risking adjacent houses when they arrived. The unincorporated area does not have fire hydrants and the department used all three of their tank trucks and asked for additional tankers from Fox Lake, Wilmot and Lake Villa.

Firefighters could not enter the building since the fire had been burning for quite awhile and the risk was too great.

Firefighters were able to determine that no one was home at the time of the fire. The houses on either side of burning house sustained minor damage according to Fire Chief Dennis Volling.

There were no injuries at the house that was rented by Richard Jorgensen, since he was not at home. The fire department and the insurance company are investigating the cause of the fire, which is a standard procedure.

The Newport and Bristol Fire Departments were on standby for the Antioch Fire Department in case other calls came in.

Dynamic Drury Lane revival MAM TE CONCE Upon a Mattress'

By Tom Witom

"Once Upon a Mattress," a fractured fairytale that fancifully reiterates the Hans Christian Andersen story "The Princess and the Pea," has a long history on the stage. The musical comedy that debuted on Broadway in May of 1959 is now enjoying a noteworthy revival at Drury Lane Oakbrook.

From a book by Jay Thompson, Marshall Barer and Dean Fuller, the show's music by Mary Rodgers is as bouncy as ever while the catchy lyrics by Barer remain fresh.

Ray Frewen's direction seems determined to mind every note, laugh and dance step possible - and he succeeds.

"Once Upon a Mattress" pits two comedic divas in a battle of wits. Paula Scrofano, as Queen Aggravain (the character's name speaks, volumes), an overbearing and overprotective mother who is doing everything within her power to keep her son from marrying. And Kristen Freilich, a minx-like princess - Winnifred, or Fred to her friends - was raised in a swamp and has swam the castle's moat to find herself in contention for the hand of Prince Dauntless, an eager if complacent lad played by Sean Fortunato.

Scrofano and Freilich both have perfect timing that's essential for the broad humor demanded by their roles, and they also carry their weight as singers.

Kristen Freilich must prove herself a worthy princess in "Once Upon a Mattress" at Drury Lane Oakbrook.

To prove she has the sensitivity requisite of a true princess, the Queen and her Wizard (John Reeger) devise a "test" to see how Winnifred responds to a single pea tucked beneath a pile of 20 mattresses.

Meanwhile, the court is anxious, since no one may marry until after the prince has taken a bride. Especially anxious lest their secret comes out are Harry, a proud knight played by Brian Herriott, and a pregnant Lady Larkin (Pegah Kadkhodaian).

Other unfaltering performances are by

Bernie Yvon as the jester; Jason Bayle, the minstrel; and the expressive Dale Benson, skirtchasing old King Sextimus, who for most of the story is under a spell that has left him mute.

Vivid and imaginative costumes by Gregory Slawko give sparkle to "Once Upon a Mattress" as does the inventive minimalist set by Robert Kovach and the fine lighting by Robert Christen. In addition, a strong dance ensemble, choreographed by Marci Caliendo, and the music direction by Jeff Bell, guarantees no one in this audience will fall asleep.

"Once Upon a Mattress"

'ART' is in the eye of the beholder

"ART," the latest artistic creation of Lake Forest's professional and trendy Citadel Theater, sizzles hotter than a 16ounce sirloin on a George Foreman grill. "ART" is not only an entrée but a whole meal as well. By taking a question as old as cave dweller murals and making it fresher than the latest fad, "ART" is a delightful dessert. It is a treat guaranteed to please even the most fastidious taste.

Written by Yasmina Reza, a gifted Parisian playwright, "ART" starts out by asking, "what is art?" It ends not only with the meaning of art but of life, love and friendship to boot. En route, it tickles both the palate and intellect with wild and witty exchange.

The story of "ART" is devilishly simple, yet astonishingly sophisticated. A man buys a white painting on a white canvas for an outrageous sum. He wants his friends to admire his taste and joyfully shows it to them. They have reservations about what they see and are not shy about showing it. Sparkling repartee ensues, testing the bonds of their friendship. In the end it becomes clear that the play is not really about art at all but about something much deeper.

Winner of the 1998 Tony Award for Best Play and the Olivier Award for Best Comedy, "ART," a full-length, one-act play has a talented local cast. It includes Tom Beck of Round Lake, Dan Deuel of Gurnee and James Farrell of Oak Park.

The play will be presented at The Center for the Performing Arts at Gorton, 400 E. Illinois, Lake Forest, downstairs in the "Grotto" - a 70-seat "black box" theatre providing an intimate space for the Citadel Theatre Co. performances.

According to Newsweek "'ART' sounds like a marriage of Molière and Woody Allen." This is a wedding that should not be missed. "Art" opens Nov. 17 and runs through Dec. 11 Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. Tickets are $20 general admission and $17 for students and seniors. Call Citadel for tickets at 847-735-8554 or Gorton Center at 847-234-6060.

Early music has a lesson

An early music offering will be presented at the Byron Colby Barn Nov. 6 at 4 p.m. for those looking for something a little different.

Claudio Monteverdi's "Il Ballo delle Ingrate" or "The Dance of the Ungrateful Women" is a long madrigal, staged and costumed as a mini-opera, with Amy Conn as Cupid, and conducted by Michael Lewanski.

A short work, "Il Ballo delle Ingrate" was written to be performed for ladies at court. Furthermore, it was ostensibly written to induce the ladies to be generous to their male suitors. This is accomplished in the work by the audience's observation of a visit Cupid and Venus make to Pluto. The purpose of their visit is to ask Pluto to show the ungrateful women he keeps in Hades to the women of the world, and in particular those in the audience, so that they can see firsthand what happens to women who withhold their favor to their male suitors.

Single tickets are $15, with children under 16 admitted free. Season passes are available for $72.

The Byron Colby Barn is located at 1561 Jones Point Rd. in Grayslake. For tickets or information, call 847-543-1202 or e-mail bcbarn@prairiecrossing.com.

Ayodele Casel to join Footprints at Tap Jam 2005!

Tap Ensemble of Talent Forum will welcome Ayodele Casel as this year's Tap Jam 2005 guest artist, along with Chicago's own Mark Yonally and world-renowned jazz musicians Willie Pickens, Marlene Rosenberg, Pat Mallinger and Robert Shy. The eleventh annual Tap Jam will be held Saturday, Nov. 12, at 7 p.m. in the Vernon Hills High School Auditorium Theatre, located at 145 Lakeview Parkway, Vernon Hills. Tickets, priced at $10 and $15, are now on sale at Talent Forum, 450 Peterson Rd., Libertyville. A limited number of tickets will be available at Footprints Tap Ensemble is a production and performance company of Chicago-area youth. The ensemble is directed by the dancers themselves, whose ages range from 13 to 18. Their repertoire is varied, and reflects members' training with the finest master tap dancers in the world.

"Footprints is particularly dedicated to carrying on the legacy of the great tap mas-

The internationally recognized Footprints ters," said Talent Forum director Shelley Hoselton. "You will see influences of many of the old masters in their work." This Tap Jam includes everything from a lively Broadwaystyle duet choreographed by one of Footprints' youngest dancers, to an exquisite yet frantically-paced piece performed to Natalie Cole's smooth vocals in Avalon, to a hard-hitting cutting-edge dance inspired by the Beastie Boy's Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, to several jazz pieces accompanied by the Willie Pickens' Quartet. "We've got something for everyone," says Hoselton.

As an added bonus to this year's Tap Jam, Ayodele Casel will hold master workshops for intermediate and advanced tappers (6th grade and older) at Talent Forum on November 13 from 1 to 4 p.m. The cost is $30. Preregistration is recommended.

For more information about these master classes or Tap Jam 2005, visit Footprints' Web site at www.footprints-tap-ensemble.org or call Talent Forum at 847-816-1711.

The Schmoogs are coming!

A family musical, "Treasures in Schmoogieland" will be presented on Saturday, Nov. 12, at the All Saints Lutheran Church in Fox Lake. Performances will be held at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. A silent auction will also be held after each show.

Sure to appeal to the whole family, especially children, the show will feature music, singing and dancing by a variety of colorfullycostumed "Schmoog" characters. Written and produced by Madonna Maze of Art from the Heart Productions in McHenry, the show will be performed by members of the All Saints Lutheran Church, with proceeds to benefit the church and a local child with autism.

Maze describes her "Schmoogs" as fuzzy, colorful, little critters known for their big hearts of gold. They live in Schmoogieland, where everybody lends a helping hand. Their name "Schmoog" rhymes with 'good,' because that is what they are. Most of Maze's Schmoog tales are stories that teach children lessons about doing good for others.

"Schmoogs are the ultimate volunteers," says Maze. "And the cast in this show are volunteering their time and talent to make the show a success for their church." Maze's Schmoog musicals have been performed at various churches and schools in the area as well as at the Woodstock Opera House

Tickets are $7 for adults, $5 for children and seniors, and children under 3 are free. Tickets can be purchased at the door or in advance through the church at 847-587-7727 or from Curves in Fox Lake at 847-587-7001.

Following each performance guests are invited to meet the cast, receive free "Schmoogieland" souvenirs and enjoy refreshments. Cameras are welcome. A silent auction will also be held.

All Saints Lutheran Church is located at 5800 State Park Road in Fox Lake. For more information, contact Madonna Maze at 847-322-1812 e-mail MadonnaMaze@aol.com.

Daisy Martinez brings Latin flavors to the table

Food show viewers have seen Daisy Martinez in action on her public television series. Now they can enjoy her recipes between the pages of a new book, "Daisy Cooks! Latin Flavors that will Rock Your World" (Hyperion, 2005).

- Born in Puerto Rico and living in Brooklyn, Martinez provides a highly accessible introduction to Latin cookery, with dishes from her homeland plus Mexico, Cuba, Spain, Dominican Republic as well as Central and South America. Expect to find gazpacho, crab-filled empanadas, Colombian-style stuffed flank steak and a fine Mexican flan.

COOKING

BY THE BOOK

Many of her dishes can be prepared within half an hour - especially those that build on some of the basic salsas, rubs and flavored oils she outlines early on.

Her Sausage, Onion, Pepper and Potato Roast is an aromatic casserole that's perfect for a late autumn supper. All the ingredients work in harmony. We used a very smoky andouille; you may prefer a garlicky Italian sausage or a combination of the two.

Sausage, Onion, Pepper and Potato Roast (Asado de Longanzia, Cebolla, Pimientosy Papas)

> 2 lbs. of garlicky sausage such as linguica, andouille or Italian sausages seasoned with garlic

1 lb. white potatoes, scrubbed and cut into 1/2-in. rounds on the bias Fine sea or kosher salt 1 tsp. dried oregano Olive oil

1 each red, yellow and orange bell peppers, cored, seeded and cut lengthwise into 1/4-in. strips 1 large Spanish onion, halved and then cut into thin slivers

2 sprigs of fresh thyme Freshly ground pepper Chopped fresh cilantro

1. Place the sausages in a skillet with 1/2 cup of 30 minutes, shaking the pan every once in a water. Cook over high heat, turning the sausages until the water has evaporated and the sausages start to sizzle in their fat, about 6 minutes. The sausage centers will be pink. Cut the sausages into 1-in, slices on the bias. Set

2. Place the potatoes in a medium saucepan and add enough cold water to cover them. Add a small handful of salt and bring the water to a boil over high heat. As soon as the water comes to a boil, drain and set aside.

3. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees F. Toss the sausages, potatoes and oregano together in a roasting pan with enough oil to coat them .

4. Toss the peppers, onions and thyme with the sausages and potatoes. Season lightly with... salt and pepper and return to the oven. Roast, uncovered, until the onions and peppers are tender but not melted, about 20 minutes. Check the seasonings. Scatter the cilantro over the top and serve hot. (Serves cups frozen blackberries

teaspoon lime juice

tablespoons honey 16 canned peach halves or 8 medium

fresh peaches, cut in half, pitted tablespoons packed brown sugar teaspoon ground cinnamon teaspoons peach liqueur or lime juice Additional blackberries, if desired

1. In blender, combine blackberries, 1 teaspoon lime juice and honey; blend at medium speed about 45 seconds, stopping blender occasionally to scrape sides, until smooth. Strain sauce. Cover; refrigerate until serving.

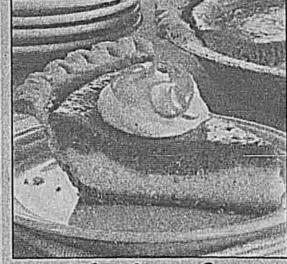

2. Place peach halves, cut sides up, on large piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon and liqueur. Fold foil over peaches and seal.

3. Broil foil packet 4 inches from heat about 15 minutes or until peaches are heated through. Serve hot with blackberry sauce. Garnish with additional blackberries.

Tip: Frozen raspberries or strawberries are colorful stand-ins for blackberries. And if you like, maple syrup or brown sugar can be used instead of honey.

It's time for Sweet Potato Pie

While sweet potatoes abound, delight your family and guests with this tasty pie. It's an easy recipe made even easier with a frozen pie crust that's ready to bake in its own disposable pan. Bake ahead and refrigerate for your next fall gathering.

Layered Cream Cheese-Sweet Potato Pie

Pillsbury Pet-Ritz frozen deep dish pie crust

Cream Cheese Layer

package (8 oz.) cream cheese, not softened

1/4 cup granulated sugar

egg teaspoon grated orange peel

Sweet Potato Layer cup mashed, cooked sweet potatoes (about 3/4 lb. uncooked)

cup half-and-half 1/2 cup packed brown sugar teaspoon grated orange peel

1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon teaspoon ground ginger

teaspoon ground nutmeg

1/8 teaspoon salt

egg

Place cookie sheet on oven rack. Heat oven to 350° F. In small bowl, beat cream cheese and sugar on low speed until well blended. Add egg: beat well. Stir in orange peel. Set aside.

Place sweet potatoes in food processor; cover and process until smooth. In large bowl, beat sweet potato layer ingredients with wire whisk. Spread cream cheese mixture in frozen pie crust. Carefully spoon sweet potato mixture over cream cheese mixture.

Bake on cookie sheet 50 to 60 minutes or until set and knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool 30 minutes. Refrigerate until chilled, 3 to 4 hours. Store covered in refrigerator. 8 servings.

Tip: To prevent the layers from blending, do not soften the cream cheese prior to mixing. If preparing the recipe with the Pumpkin Spice Packet (included in Pet-Ritz pie crust packages during winter 2005), eliminate the spices and salt. Serve with sweetened whipped cream, if tomato pasta sauce instead of making fresh tomato sauce. Makes 10 servings

22-Mineola Restaurant and Lounge Fox Lake

One of Al Capone's favorite hangouts from the '30s is still alive and well today. The Mineola, on the shores of Fox Lake, features a restaurant, lounge, banquet hall and marina.

As the largest frame structure in the state, the well-known hotel, originally a 100-room place with 79 sleeping rooms built in 1884 as clubhouse, was purchased by the Jakstas family in 1942 and is still run by family members. It was put on the National Register of Historic Places in 1979.

The restaurant features Sunday breakfast, as well as a Friday night fish fry and prime rib on Saturdays and is open as well for lunch and dinner throughout the week serving American fare.

There's also a medium-size marina on site for boaters with storage inside and out.

Don't miss: Al Capone and other gangster paraphernalia, as well as an impressive police badge collection and an old menu from the

23-Lehmann Mansion Lake Villa

In 2001, close to becoming nothing but a mere memory, the Lehmann Mansion was spared being razed by a wrecking ball as the village of Lake Villa stepped in and purchased the most of the 86-acre estate for $2,7 million.

Many local residents wanted to see the mansion preserved, including Ted Nielsen, who purchased 26 acres of the estate four years ago. Today it is used for a host of functions, primarily as a banquet facility.

The mansion was originally built in 1912 as a summer home for Edward J. Lehmann and family. Recently, it was extensively restored to the grandeur of its elegant past.

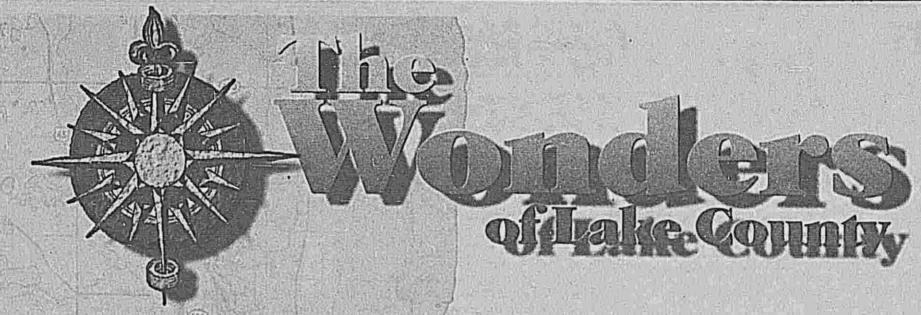

In 2002, the site was placed on the Illinois State Historical Register.

25-East Gym 178 Waukegan

No other site around holds so much meaning when it comes to Lake County basketball.

Waukegan High School's East Gym, now at the school's ninth grade center, features huge blowup photos of Bulldog legends in its lobby, like eventual Cleveland Browns hall of fame quarterback Otto Graham.

But enter the gym and it's like stepping back into time. The unique bleacher setup surrounds the court and gets the fans right on top of the action. There's probably no louder basketball arena in the area.

After hosting the sectionals for most of Lake County for many years, the tournament moved to the more sterile, yet newer and higher-capacity environs at Lake Zurich High School.

Don't miss: An extensive collection of high school memorabilia and trophles in the lobby. Details: Call 847-360-5616

26-Nuclear Power Plant Zion

Even though the Zion Generating Station has been dormant for seven years, the twin towers, which used to be a nuclear generating facility, now is what its owners, Exelon Corp., term as a "voltage-stabilizing facility."

After 20 years, the reactors were permanently shut down on Jan. 15, 1998.

Early in 1998, Exelon said both units' generators were converted to synchronous condensers, which are used year-round to provide stability to the Northeast Illinois power lines to help during peak usage months in summer.

Station employees are still there today monitoring the storage of spent nuclear fuel.

And that dialing up service reps is just as frightening, with the ghost of John Belushi forever ranting "Cheeseburger, Cheeseburger. Pepsi! No Coke!" in voice mail limbo.

Yes, cost cutting seems to be draining the life out of customer service. Meanwhile, employees left to deal with increasingly irate customers resort to crude name calling on customer billing statements or websites like "The Customer S[tinks]." #### Round Lake High School presents 'The Diviners'

In the purest sense, The Diviners is a play about love, friendship, family and community, and a time in our nation's history when these things were hard to find, and even harder to hold onto. While the rest of the country lays divided and demoralized by the ravages of the Great Depression, the people of this story manage to weather the storm. In a true community, the joys and pains of the individual are shared and shouldered by all, and it is this sense of community that binds these people together, allowing them to persevere with determination, hope and good humor. Possessed of a great respect for the land and those they share it with, the people of Zion still believe in common courtesy, and the value of a handshake. The playwright, Jim Leonard Jr., said it best, "These are good and simple people, they have nothing but the best of intentions".

Stylistically, the play has a hymn-like quality. It is spare, haunting, and yet ultimately human, and filled with warmth. There is a reverence for life in the play, even in its depiction of human frailty and death. There is also a tremendous faith in the human capacity for goodness. The Diviners is a ballad a folk tale, told and retold among friends.

Showtimes are now through Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m., doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are available at the door. Adults $7, children ands Senior Citizen $5. Children five years old and under $2.

opening this week)

The Squid and the Whale: The father (Jeff Daniels) in an eccentric and elitist Brooklyn family (who has not had a successful novel published in some time) is quasi-comfortable as a college teacher, though that too has reached a plateau. When his wife (Laura Linney) blossoms as a writer with major publicity and a contract that he feels only he should have, his ego gets in the way and it's splitsville.

In the wake of the extramarital affairs of both Daniels and Linney are their two loved and somewhat neglected teenage sons. Linney's character begins dating her younger son's tennis coach (William Baldwin). Meanwhile, Daniels' character has an affair with the student his older son is pursuing (Anna Paquin).

An intelligent well made film, though somehow the whole picture is less likeable than the individual parts. That's also how it sometimes turns out in real life as well. (R) ased upon a true story and a book by the same name, "Jarhead" refers to the high and tight haircut, and the self-proclaimed, empty-vessel thinking of being a Marine. That's not to say Marines are non-thinking. It does however refer to the kill or be killed indoctrination of what being a soldier means. In war, the primary purpose is to kill, unless the opponent peacefully and quickly submits to your will. The sole purpose of a foot soldier is to follow orders.

Taking a detour from college and dead-end, minimum -wagepaying jobs, Anthony Swofford (Jake Gyllenhaal) joins the Marines. During his basic training at Camp Pendleton, California, we get the raw drill sergeant treatment so that the recruits can make a quick transition from civilian to military life. Anthony is selected to be a sharpshooter because of his marksman ship. Fellow recruit Troy (Peter Sarsgaard) is assigned as his teammate and spotter.

Set on the eve of the 1st Gulf War, Anthony and Troy are soon in the deserts of the Middle East, bored to distraction and waiting for the war to start. Under the leadership of Lt. Col Kazinski (Chris Cooper) and Sgt. Siek (Jamie Foxx), the recent graduates from boot camp pass away the time by further training, masturbation, dirty jokes and the not so slippery slope of wives and girlfriends telling them they have been replaced by new lovers.

The Marines have a solution for every problem one can think of other than going crazy - Boredom. And the uncertainty in one's personal life can slowly drive a lot of men in that direction.

The high level of testosterone in the film becomes somewhat numbing after about 90 minutes with the constant cursing, military games, mooning and sexual bravado.

Saving the film is the arc that takes place when the young men are back home as civilians. While there is a lot of humor in the film, looking from afar it's a sad story. Once you've pulled the trigger on a rifle in a war zone, the feeling you had at that time is something you never forget.

young Palestinian men, Said and Khaled, live and work in the occupied town of Nablus, a ghetto not far from Tel Aviv. Unlike ghettos in the US. Nablus is governed by the military, as compared to the police. There are no civil rights. While nearby Tel Aviv has the pizzazz of Miami Beach in the winter, the people that live in Nablus are literally in a walled concentration camp, from which they cannot come and go as they please.

Said and Khaled are best friends that spend their time drinking tea and smoking a hookah (a shared smoking pipe) when they are not goofing off as mechanics in a dead-end job that pays next to nothing.

Life is looking up for Said when Suha, a beautiful young woman brings her car in for repairs. A different type of bright future is presented to both Said and Khaled when they are approached by Jamal, a point man for an unnamed Palestinian organization, who tells them they have been chosen to carry out a suicide bombing mission in Tel Aviv the next day. They accept the assignment, and are brave and afraid at the same time. Things go smoothly until the mission is interrupted and each man is forced to reexamine the decision they were ready to carry out.

The purpose of the movie is to better understand why men and women (see "The Terrorist," on DVD and "The War Within," currently in theaters) are willing to kill themselves to advance their cause. In "The Terrorist" and "The War side.

Within," the young people recruited to become suicide bombers do so only after a lengthy interrogation and brainwashing period. That and doing, "Allah's will," seem to be the key components to their decision to sacrifice themselves for the greater good.

"In Palestine, the reasons have nothing to do with religion," said director Hany Abu-Assad, in a recent conversation with George Singleton. Other than possibly wanting to be a hero, the anger and humiliation that is related to living in an occupied territory can make one want to seek their salvation by striking back at those who they believe have no respect for them.

This contemporary, knowledgeable and entertaining story won multiple awards at the 2005 Berlin Film Festival, and was invited to the Telluride and Toronto film festivals. Without doubt, "Paradise Now" is a militant, non-violent step toward peace. The fact that there can be humor and romance demonstrates that, as bleak as the situation appears, there is still hope for a world in which Palestinians and Israelis can live in peace, side by hicken Little" (voiced by Zach Braff) is a terrific and insightful animated film from Disney that features great saturated colors and style. Chicken Little (CL) alarms the quiet town of Oakey Oaks with his now famous ranting that "the sky is falling." The townspeople decide that what he saw was a falling acorn, and he gets the reputation that he's a little touched in the head.

Even his dad, Buck Cluck (Garry Marshall) seems disappointed in him. Chicken Little's friends Abby Mallard (a.k.a. the Ugly Duckling and voiced by Joan Cusack), Runt, and Fish Out of Water are the only ones who believe him. CL's dad was a baseball star at the same school, so CL decides to try out for the baseball team as a way of redeeming himself. His road to redemption is slapstick funny and to us, the best part of the movie.

With his reputation back in tact, Chicken Little gets the benefit of the doubt, at least for awhile, until he and his friends discover an invisible space ship and CL again alerts the town. The fear grows to horror when "War of the Worlds" type aliens start to roam the streets with what appears to be a hostile invasion. Nothing really scary here parents. The truth is that they are looking for a young alien that was left behind. This is a rescue mission, not an attack.

Chicken Little and his dad save the day by returning the fuzzy young alien in time, and dad and son regain the faith they have in each other.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

My 15 year old daughter loves to get together with her friend and watch scary movies, sleep over and then scream and laugh the rest of the night together. Sometimes, to me, it sounds like they are really terrified, but they ask to keep getting together to do this. Of course, when it is at our house, no one can really sleep well since all the screaming is going on. We really don't mind that part of it that much, but are more concerned with whether this activity is o.k. for them to be doing. This time of year, with Halloween coming up, they become especially fond of this activity and I do not know if this is healthy or normal. Do you think this is normal? Signed-Sleep deprived mom!

Hi Sleep Deprived,

If it isn't normal, than I was also an abnormal teenager as well. Being that they are 15, and asking to do this again and again, it is more than likely something they are enjoying more than they fear it. Some of my fondest memories are 'screamfests' with my best friend Stacey. We would also watch the scariest movie we could find. Afterwards, the predictable phone call would occur to the other parents to ask, 'Can I sleep over at Sherri's house?' After that, the screaming and laughter would begin-for hours. I often wondered why my parents never complained, but also knew why they were happy to let me occupy the downstairs bedroom on the other side of the house.

Screaming can be fur

We enjoyed this activity immensely. This is not to say that there were not times that both of us would go a little too far in scaring each other and become really scared to the point that for a few minutes it wasn't fun anymore. But, then again, there was always an easy remedy for that-turn on the light for a few minutes. If your daughter gets too scared, she will more than likely do the same thing.

Let me try and explain to you, a little bit about why this type of thing is so exciting for kids and even for many adults. Ours is a society that loves scary movies. They sell very well. Even the news is a form of scare and look at how many people are drawn to it. Ask yourself how popular Roller Coasters are. They have gotten bigger, scarier and more risky looking over time and their popularity has grown along with the risk. People love a safe scare. They love to feel that adrenaline pumping for a little while, to come down safely afterwards. I believe it gives them a feeling of being in control of their fears. It's almost therapeutic in a sense. The more you face your fears in a relatively safe environment, the more in control of your fears you are and the more in control you feel.

Kids also love to laugh. I can tell you from my personal experience with Stacey, that we laughed so hard from being scared that we would almost be wheezing by the time we were done. It felt so terrific I can't even express it. Your daughter is probably drawn back to the same feeling I was.

This is probably o.k. for a kid who is 15. For a younger age child, however, it may not be the best thing in the world. Younger kids have more difficulty finding the dividing line between reality and fantasy. I would say that you need to make a judgment call about how young is o.k. to do this. If your 9-year-old does this and ends up sleeping with you for the next 4 days, you know it's time to cut it off until the child is older.

Regarding the sleep deprivation of the family, that is a tough one. You see, my family never complained at the time, but I have a feeling that if they did, being the teenager I was, I probably would have been a tough one to stop laughing. Not because I was insolent or defiant, but because the draw to the laughter was so strong and so much a part of Stacey's and my relationship. There are a couple of things I might suggest. First, you might want to think about letting your daughter move her room to a different location in the house. I ended up making the downstairs guest room my permanent room. It worked well in lots of ways and might also take care of the noise factor in your house. You might also want to invest in a good pair of ear plugs for every member of the family for nights when these two get together. Also, if you are worried about neighbors hearing it, you might want to let them know about it ahead of time, so they don't call the police. Last resort, you might want to add some insulation around the room the girl occupies.

Noisy? Yes. Harmful or abnormal? No. If you can rough it out, it is probably some of the greatest, good, clean, fun your daughter will have and she will remember it with fond memories for a lifetime.

While going back to the days without lighting is not an option, finding a better bulb is. Compact fluorescent lamps, or CFLs, are becoming an increasingly attractive option for consumers. They use 75 percent less energy than traditional bulbs and can last for six years.

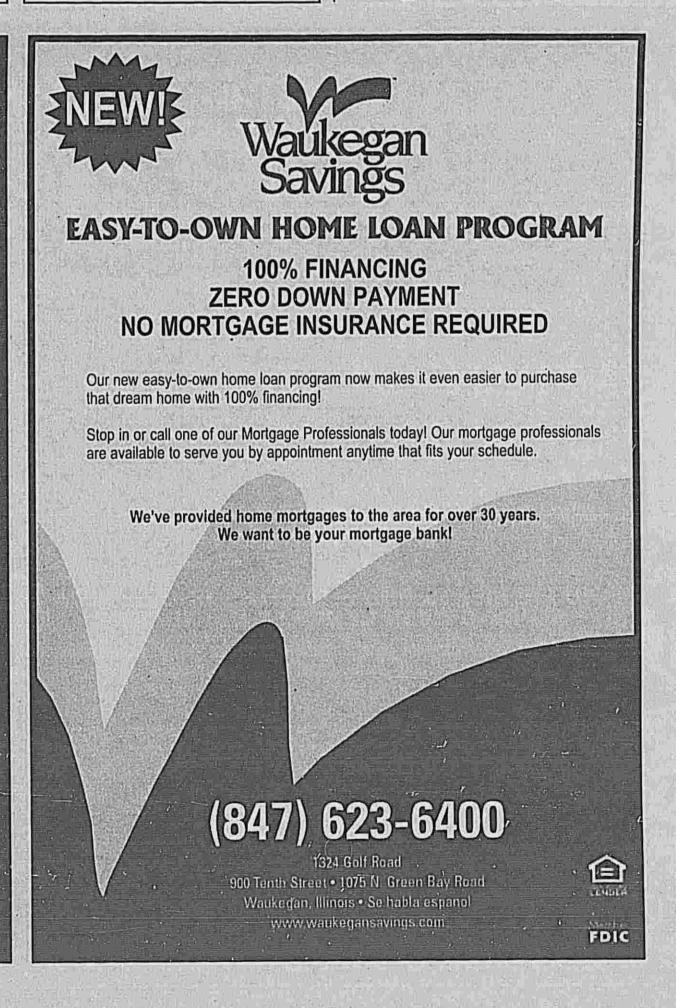

"CFLs have a real positive impact on the environment because they reduce energy usage and provide a cooler light source," stated Jon DiGesu of Sylvania. "They can actually reduce the need for air conditioning usage."

Since CFLs entered the market more than a decade ago, advances in lighting technology have made them brighter and more aesthetically pleasing than ever before.

"Lighting designers are looking for a cleaner, whiter light and homeowners are responding to that by their increased interest in 'true-color' bulbs, which produce a light similar to that of daylight," DiGesu said. "Daylight CFLs not only help the environment by saving energy, but they also help create a beautiful home environment."

Daylight CFLs have an Energy Star seal of approval. This mark on a product means it uses less energy, which means less air pollution."

Classes are scheduled in a variety of delivery formats that appeal to working non-traditional students: evenings and weekends, face-to-face, online, correspondence and interactive video. In the 2004-05 academic year, nearly 5,000 students were registered at the Waukegan facility.

Construction for the University Center began in October of 2003 and students started moving into the new facility earlier this month. The building, composed of 1,900 individual pieces of glass, over 150 steel columns, and more than 1,500 steel beams, has state-of-the art academic technology.

The building is separated into five key areas, which curl around an outdoor courtyard. The areas are comprised of three academic houses with traditional classrooms, as well as distant learning classrooms and computer labs; a multi-purpose conference wing including a 100-seat lecture hall, a "Harvard" style classroom and three combinable multi-purpose classrooms; and a central administrative house with core functions including a lobby, commons, café, computer lab, electronic library and administrative spaces.

University Center of Lake County Executive Dean and Director G. Gary Grace praised the efforts of all who made the educational facility come to life.

"Faculty and students from our member institutions provided a great deal of input in the design phase of the building and the result is a space tailored to the needs of the adult students enrolled in the degree programs running here at the University Center," he said.

The University Center builds dynamic relationships with the civic, business, educational, and social service communities of Lake County.

University Center staff serves as advocates for those communities with the state's colleges and universities.

To better serve the needs of Lake County students, the University Center works closely with the College of Lake County. The University Center also leads initiatives that encourage member institutions to offer joint programs that allow students additional opportunities to continue their education.

Controlled burns bring new life to forest preserves

Controlled burn season is starting in the Lake County Forest Preserves to improve habitat for native plants and wildlife.

Specially trained and equipped forest preserve staff and volunteers will conduct the burns, selecting sites based on wind and other weather conditions.

Over the past 16 years, the Lake County Forest Preserves have conducted controlled burns to restore and improve natural plant communities in Lake County.

Native woodlands, savannas, prairies and wetlands are fire dependent communities that require regular controlled burns to maintain their ecological value.

The burns mimic fires that historically occurred in Lake County for thousands of years. They decrease invasive woody plants, remove dead leaves, and expose the soil and seeds to the sun's rays early in the growing season.

This encourages native plants to grow more vigorously and to produce more flowers and seed. Wildlife populations are adapted to survive the burns. Most animals are safe underground or high up in trees; others move out of the way to avoid fires. Controlled burns are scheduled to avoid the breeding season of native wildlife.

Natural areas being managed by controlled burns are showing improvement. In woodlands, which are generally targeted in the fall for controlled burns, invasive woody brush is reduced and native plants are rebounding.

Controlled burns are the most cost efficient management tool available to land managers. Forest Preserve staff and volunteers complete intensive training before conducting controlled burns to ensure that www.LCFPD.org.

proper safety measures are taken to protect people, facilities, plants and animals in the Preserves and on surrounding properties.

Additionally, the District provides burn plans to local fire departments for review and approval.

Forest Preserves under consideration for fall controlled burns include new sites like Marl Flat near Volo, Gander Mountain near Wilmot, and other high quality or habitat restoration areas like Middlefork Savanna near Lake Forest, Wadsworth Savanna near Wadsworth, Cuba Marsh near Barrington, Wright Woods near Mettawa, Rollins Savanna near Grayslake, Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield, Grant Woods near Fox Lake, Lyons Wood near Waukegan and others.

Look in the Preserves section of the Forest Preserves Web site at www.LCFPD.org for daily controlled burns announcements. Here you can find which Preserve is scheduled to receive a controlled burn, and you can learn more about the Forest Preserves entire land management program.

Local fire and police departments are notified before and after each controlled burn. Forest Preserve staff closely monitors each burn with appropriate safety equipment and, if necessary, stay overnight at the site until the fire is completely out. Wind and other weather conditions are monitored daily to help determine which Preserves are selected for prescribed controlled burns.

For a free set of brochures on the Forest Preserve controlled burn program and other natural resource management efforts, call the Lake County Forest Preserve General Offices at 847-367-6640, or visit www.LCFPD.org.

Judge earns award from NIU

The Northern Illinois University College of Law Alumni Council presented its "Distinguished Career Award for 2005" to 19th Judicial Circuit Court Judge James K. Booras.

The award is presented annually to an alumni of the law school in recognition of their career achievements and commitment to public service.

Former NIU law school graduates who attended the event included Judges Victoria A. Rossetti, Valerie Boettle Ceckowski, Joseph Waldeck and Diane Winter.

Among other well wishers were Lake County Judges Margaret Mullen, Mary Schostok, Fred Foreman, Wallace Dunn and Michael Fritz. McHenry County Circuit Judge Michael Chmiel and Cook County Judge Hyman Riebman were also on hand to offer their congratulations as well as several lawyers from Lake County.

Booras, born in Greece, came to the U.S. in 1970. He received his undergraduate degree from NIU in 1975 and earned his Juris Doctor from NIU College of Law in 1979. In 1980 Booras joined the Lake County State's Attorney's office and served under then State's Attorney Fred Foreman and, later, Michael Waller.

He served as an associate judge from 1991 until 2000 when he was appointed circuit judge by the Illinois Supreme Court.

He was later elected circuit judge in 2002. Booras currently sits in the Criminal Felony Division and is also the presiding judge of the Juvenile Division.

Booras resides in the Gurnee area with Irene, his honorable wife (as he fondly refers to her) and their son, Dean.

County, SMC's approach to flood damage finds answers

Fourteen years ago when the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) opened its doors, nature dictated how the agency would reduce flood damages.

With numerous acres of floodplain, three major river systems, thousands of acres of wetlands, lakes and hundreds of miles of streams making up the county's topography, it made more sense to protect and enhance the natural drainage system to store flood waters than to build expensive levees and other structural solutions to control the them.

"We are fortunate. Our county and municipal leaders were ahead of their time when they developed a comprehensive plan for stormwater management in Lake County back in the late 1980s," said Ward Miller, SMC's executive director. "Structural solutions, such as levees, will fail. Nature tends to win out eventually. We need to protect and enhance the natural components of our drainage system. Let us let nature work for us not against us."

Lake County has a long history of flooding because of the Des Plaines River, the north branch of the Chicago River and the Fox River that wind through the county and the natural depressions (wetlands) in the land.

The impetus for Lake County's countywide stormwater program was the 1986 flood that inundated the county and resulted in a presidential disaster declaration. Another factor was the anticipated growth county leaders would realize starting in the early 1990s when the county was one of the fastest growing counties in the country.

The Lake County Comprehensive Stormwater Management Plan includes three main activities for reducing flood damages. The first is the study of the county's four major watersheds and 26 sub-watersheds, also colled watershed planning.

called watershed planning.

A watershed plan includes flooding history and where flooding occurred and is likely to occur with land use changes; natural features and topography; the status of water quality and ways to improve it; and an action plan to reduce current and future flood damages, to suggest appropriate land uses so as not increase the potential for additional flooding, to protect or restore the natural drainage system, and to implement water quality improvements.

The comprehensive stormwater management plan also dictated a regulatory program to manage floodplain infringement and stormwater management countywide, not just on a jurisdictional level.

"Floodplains equal flood storage. If you take away the storage capabilities of those areas flood damage will not only increase within the floodplain but outside the floodplain because the water has to go somewhere," Miller said. "Our countywide ordinance limits floodplain development activity and guides a flood mitigation strategy that focuses on restoring those floodplains to predevelopment conditions."

Starting in 1998, SMC implemented a flood hazard mitigation strategy, which is the third component in the comprehensive plan. The program initially targeted voluntary buyouts with homeowners and has expanded to elevate less impacted homes above the base flood elevation. To date, over 60 homes have been acquired throughout the county and the agency is working on up to 15 more as the result of last year's Des Plaines River flooding.

These acquired parcels will be floodplain open space in perpetuity. SMC also is making use of grant funds for the first time to elevate homes. The agency estimates that nearly 40 acres of floodplain have been returned to predevelopment days thought its buyout program.

"The nation learned a lot of lessons from the 1993 Mississippi floods that really changed the face of floodplain management," Miller said. "Long-term flood damage reduction now focuses on proactive solutions and permanent protection of the floodplain through the combination of reasonable regulations and flood hazard mitigation techniques like buyouts and elevations. Regulations are the tools to prevent existing flooding from getting worse and future ones from occurring; and mitigation is the tool to ensure the floodplain can return to doing what it was created to do."

Floodplain regulations have not affected the rate of growth in the county and in fact, the agency set a new record for permit reviews in 2004. The agency will continue to offer buyouts and elevations to volunteer homeowners when funding is available.

"We are proof that you can balance economic development with natural resource protection. For Lake County we had to make it work. We have too much at stake to see floodwaters wash away our quality of life and economic vitality," Miller said.

Juvenile director, others, earn awards

Louise Loud, director of Juvenile Probation and Detention Services, was presented with the S. William Ettinger Service Award at the annual banquet of the Illinois Probation and Court Services Association.

"I cannot think of anyone more deserving than Louise to receive this award," said Chief Judge Christopher Starck. "She is an outstanding leader and well known statewide for her expertise in the juvenile justice system."

The award is presented to an IPCSA member who in the opinion of a committee has exemplified the highest standards in the field of achievement. The nominee must have had a minimum of seven years experience within the profession to be eligible.

Loud, of North Chicago, who has worked for the county since 1977, has more than 28 years in the criminal justice system. She has served in several positions ranging from juvenile probation officer to therapist, program coordinator, superintendent to her present title, Director of Juvenile Probation and Detention Services. She is also a part-time faculty member at the College of Lake County and the University of Wisconsin, Parkside campus and is a member of numerous professional organizations.

More probation officers honored

Senior Juvenile Probation Counselor Robert Brothers and Senior Adult Probation Officer Ann Brezinski were each presented with a "Distinguished Service Award" in recognition of their significant contributions to the court, their colleagues, and the profession.

Brothers graduated from Lincoln University in Oxford, Pennsylvania in 1997 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice. He began his employment with Juvenile Probation/Detention Services in August 1998. He is married, the father of two young children and resides in Zion.

Brezinski began her service with Lake County Adult Probation in August 2000. She is a 1990 graduate of Bradley University where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology. She has worked as a surveillance officer with the sex offender unit, began a general field officer position in 2002, and was promoted to senior adult probation officer in August 2005. Ann is an active member of IPCSA and is currently on the Substance Abuse Committee.

More questions to be answered about preserves

f Forest Preserve commissioners look beyond what was found in a public opinion survey, they may find more significance in what was unsaid than what was stated by respondents. By a large margin, voters indicated satisfaction with some of the core missions of the district-funding more land preservation, wildlife habitat restoration, expanding the trail system and completing public access to existing facilities. A whopping 73 percent of Lake County households surveyed reported visiting a preserve in the past two years. That's nothing short of remarkable.

On the question of most-used preserves, or most-popular facilities, the results were pretty much as expected. Independence Grove, Libertyville, led the "most-visited" facility with a 37 percent response. Others high on the listed included Van Patten Woods, Wadsworth, 13 percent; Lakewood at Wauconda, 12 percent, and Old School near Libertyville, 12 percent. A flock of single digit responses indicated a number of preserves are being used by the taxpaying public.

Independence Grove and Lakewood are the sites of a number of public events and should be expected to have a high degree of awareness. Where preserves involve participation, expected activities ranked high like hiking, biking, picnicking, walking pets and fishing.

We admit to being troubled by the fact that some high profile Forest Preserve properties didn't even register on the survey radar screen. We're thinking about facilities like Ft. Sheridan, Ray Lake Farm in Fremont Township, Raven Glen Farm, Antioch; Bonner Farm, Lindenhurst, and Webber Duck Farm, Lake Villa. Maybe different questions should have been asked. In fairness, a number of Lake County Forest Preserve District holdings are in various stages of development.

The survey answered the question always on the minds of commissioners. How far can taxpayers "be pushed" for more money? Basically, the answer was a positive response from a little over half the 716 persons contacted. The survey confirmed the feeling of commissioners that now is not the time to take a referendum question to the electorate.

Without a doubt, there are still plenty of questions to be asked about how the Forest Preserve District is doing.

Jne time when coyotes win out

uburban coyotes are being recognized for a contribution to society despite their stealthy and deceitful ways, and a penchant for treating small dogs and cats like rag dolls. And it's no small contribution, indeed.

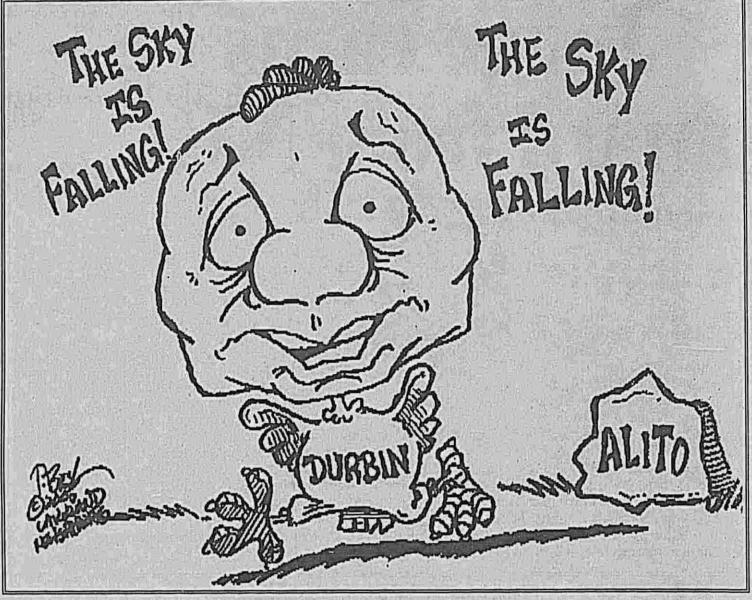

The flinty-eyed nocturnal marauders are being credited with helping control the Canada goose population. That's no small contribution in our community and neighboring villages where goose droppings are high on the list of undesirable characteristics. Even worse than the loudmouthed neighbor who turns every backyard barbecue into a Woodstock-like happening.

Coyotes love goose eggs. Night-vision cameras have documented coyote fondness for goose omeletes in a five-year study that discovered a lot of things. An Ohio State University professor found that goose population growth in Chicago dropped from about 15 percent or more a year to one percent. That's a more drastic drop than the suburbs, but even without the documentation of a scientific study, animal control specialists in Lake County have noticed a drop in the goose population, attributing the drop, for the most part, to coyote feeding habits.

Cook County naturalists are leading the way in satellite tracking of coyotes with GPS collars. They have found that coyotes can travel 30 miles a day. That fact might lead to some distortion of their actual numbers, but the coyote population is believed to be growing because of the species' ability to adapt to urban environments.

What it boils down to is a choice between coyotes and Canada geese as the No. 1 uninvited guest in town. Much as we hate to admit it, we'll take the four-legged stalkers over geese. The coyotes stay out of sight and they don't use beautifully manicured lawns for bathrooms.

Employ history to encourage visitors

ntioch's Chain O'Lakes region has been one of the Chicago area's favorite resorts since the 1880s. Since the opening of Metra's North Central commuter service in 1996, Antioch again can be reached by train. If you are interested in Antioch's history, make sure to visit the Lakes Region Historical Society located in the 1892 Antioch Grade School Building at Main Street and Depot Street The Museum is open every Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 pm., special occasions, and by appointment. For more information call 847-395-7337 or stop by the village hall for a free brochure.

Few people realize that Antioch has a second museum in town. Pickard China displays fine china created throughout the company's long history. Pickard is the finest china company in the United States. Customers have included presidents, vice-presidents and the State Department of the United States. The museum and outlet store is located at 782 Pickard Avenue and is open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

One of the most scenic sights in Lake County is the Hiram Buttrick Sawmill. The authentic reproduction was built in 1976 as a bicentennial project. The adjacent arboretum is a perfect place to hold a picnic or wedding. Tours can be arranged through the village of Antioch's Park and Recreation Department, 847-395-2160. We are also in the process of purchasing property and developing plans for our new aquatic center. Please look for more information on our Web site or in our monthly newsletter as this project progresses.

Small lake residents scorn vocal minority

Lake County Board Rep., Bonnie Thomson Carter is to be thanked, not chastised, for her efforts on behalf of Wooster Lake. She is doing what any good elected official should be doing by representing the wishes of the majority of her constituents. Dave Bond and those others who wish to have Wooster Lake open to unrestricted usage, including wave-runners and power boats, number in the tens of residents around the lake at most, while those who wish to keep Wooster Lake a no-wake lake number in the hundreds of residents around the lake.

Over 300 people from around the lake, including the majority of lake-bottom owners, have signed a petition in favor of the no-wake ordinance. Bonnie has always, and still does, closely follow and address the issues of the majority of her constituents. Bonnie has always had, and still has, a very strong and steady voice around the conservation of Wooster Lake. Hundreds of Wooster Lake residents thank her for her support of our lake.

Round Lake Mayor Bill Gentes, and the Round Lake village trustees are to be thanked, not chastised, for recently enacting an ordinance to legally make Wooster Lake a no-wake lake. They did their due diligence prior to passing the ordinance by meeting with those of their constituents who live around Wooster Lake. The majority of those constituents voiced their opinions in favor of keeping the lake as it has been for the past several decades, and the village respected those opinions in enacting the ordinance. Hundreds of Wooster Lake residents thank them for being such good neigh-

Fox Lake Mayor Cindy Irwin, and the Fox Lake village trustees are to be thanked, not chastised, for their willingness to also consider enacting an ordinance to legally make Wooster Lake a no-wake lake. They also are doing their due diligence on this issue by supporting and participating in an upcoming town hall meeting with officials from Lake County and Round Lake. At this meeting, residents from around the lake, including Dave Bond, will have the opportunity to ask questions of these officials and voice their opinions regarding the usage of the lake. Hundreds of Wooster Lake residents are thankful that we have such good neighbors in Fox Lake.

As for the Wooster Lake Conservation and Control Association (WLCCA) that Dave Bond referenced in his quotes, it is understandable that none of our area county or village officials recognize or respect them as the voice of Wooster Lake, let alone seek their opinions or "approval" on matters. Over the past two to three years, the board of this organization has become overrun by a very vocal minority who seek only to promote their personal agendas and not those of the majority of residents around the lake. This group that once had a strong voice around conservation and was highly respected by our elected officials no longer has any agenda around conservation of the lake, and is probably more likely to be responded to with disgust than anything else by our elected officials.

Oh, yeah, and what about little old Wooster Lake? Give me a break. It is a lake of only 100 acres!!! It cannot remain a viable and safe lake if opened up to unrestricted usage. I invite everyone who reads this letter to log onto the Lake County Web site and to read both the 2003 study of Wooster Lake performed by Lake County, as well as the recent Fish Lake Drain study performed and to form your own opinions about how this little lake should be used if it is to be preserved for future generations. I also invite you to walk the north shore of the lake to view the shoreline erosion that has been caused by the effects of winds and wakes and to form your own opinions about how this little lake should be used.

Lastly, I invite Dave Bond and his "pro-wake" movement to move their headquarters five minutes away from little Wooster Lake to the shores of the Chain O' Lakes, where their activities would be much more enjoyable and welcomed.

Dedicated volunteers at Independence Grove

ne of the moving quotations delivered by President John Kennedy is inscribed on the walls at his gravesite. The memorable words are "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask - what you can do for your country."

The message was clear. The quality of life for Americans benefits when they "give back to their country."

Giving back means getting involved in the community and volunteering in public service and community activities. In every walk of life; in nursing homes, hospitals, schools, libraries mental health programs, disabled activities, meals on wheels, Habitat for Humanity, recreational, and so many other human services, volunteers have been the key to the success of these services.

Across the board, volunteers never receive their due credit for the time and effort they freely provide to serve their communities and help others. They don't look for recognition, but they deserve it.

For example, very few people are aware of the many volunteers who serve as volunteers at all of the forest preserves in Lake County. I am told that there are thousands who have given of their time at the preserves.

Let me key on some who I have met on my "senior walk" regimen. One of my favorite places to walk the trails is at Independence Grove in Libertyville. I have watched firsthand how a dedicated band of volunteers, part of the Independence Grove Volunteer Program, have maintained the native garden that is part of the Millennia Plaza and Garden.

All of the 1,114 acres of Independence Grove are a gem of natural beauty, and the Plaza and Native Garden are a centerpiece of the preserve. I write about it here because I marvel at the sheer dedication and loyalty that these volunteers have in keeping it so pristine and beautiful.

These volunteers are there with their work gloves, shovels, hoes, and garden tools digging out weeds, cleaning out wilting flowers and foliage and dressing the area with seasonal changes in nature's beauty. They show up religiously every Monday and Thursday morning. That's loyalty.

I've watched these volunteers so often and never really stopped to talk to them. Inside, I appreciated their work, but never told them so. Then one day, as I began my walk, one of the volunteers greeted me with a friendly, "enjoy your walk." I thought that I would ask who they were, and I was finally able to let them know I appreciated their "devotion to nature."

To the many visitors who enjoy Independence Grove and to all who love to absorb the loveliness of nature, I thought that I should inform you of these real dedicated volunteers who pitch in every week. The four who never miss their regular calls are Sharon Moderwell, Ethel Tincher, Jim Swab, and Bob Rizzolo. They informed me that they are joined later in the morning by a group of volunteers from the Lake County Mental Health Department, and they work hard in the garden area.

When I walked around the circular plaza, rimmed with many benches for people to just sit and soak in the beauty of the environment, an idea came to mind. I know that these volunteers I met receive recognition at an annual luncheon for all that they do. But, maybe more can be done to say, "thank you" for their work. I thought that it would be appropriate that at the backrests of benches, there could be some engraving of the names of these dedicated volunteers because they have contributed so much to the vitality of the native garden.

· That, or some other enduring recognition, would be worthy for what these volunteers "have given back," so that all of us can better enjoy nature.

State's first lady goes back to school

irst Lady Patti Blagojevich joined other state and county officials for the dedication of the new University Center of Lake County in Grayslake. The $25.6 million facility offers students the chance to earn a four-year degree without leaving the county.

"Thank you for your hard work and dedication to this project," Blagojevich said to a large crowd before the ribbon-cutting ceremony took place.

"Never before has it been more important to have a college degree."

Commenting on how state-of-the-art and beautiful the University Center building and campus is, the first lady said her first reaction to the college's opening was jealousy. "I gotta tell you, it almost makes me want to enroll myself," she said.

CASA work lauded

Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Lake County recognized Rosemary Keefe, global community relations leader for Hewitt Associates in Lincolnshire, for her outstanding contributions in helping abused and neglected children. Through her efforts, Hewitt became a major sponsor of CASA. Keefe personally hosted CASA fundraisers at her family resort and restaurant Fairmont Shores in Lake Villa.

Facility to be dedicated

Fox Lake Village Board members made the intention official and found something all can agree with.

The village's police facility, undergoing a multi-million renovation, will be known as the Edward Gerretsen Jr. Police Facility as of Nov. 13. At 2 p.m. that day, a ceremony will take place at 301 S. Route 59, making it official. Gerretsen is the village's police chief.

"It is a great idea to do this now. The board voted 6-0 in favor of it. Ed has served the village well, moving up through the ranks and the family has long-standing ties," said Trustee Ed Bender, chairman of the public safety committee.

Interim Police Chief Mike Behan said that Gerretsen, who is battling an illness, was told of the honor and that he appreciates it.

Gerretsen has served the department for 33 years. He is a graduate of Richmond Burton High School.

Fur flying

Accusations were flying fast when two Island Lake trustees quit last week,

Tom Martin, expectedly and Doug

Hellman, unexpectedly, filed their resignation letters. The board is down to Mayor Tom Hyde, Trustee Deb Herrman, newly appointed Trustee Matt Huff, appointed Trustee Dan Schmidt, and Trustee Eberhard Becker. It clearly is the most divided board in either county, serving a growing population of about 10,000 people.

Martin accused Hyde of free spending, while Hyde said Martin was the reason behind all the bad vibes.

Law vets honored

The Illinois State Bar Association has conferred the title of "Senior Counselor" on five Lake County members admitted to the practice of law for 50 years. They were among 137 members honored at a luncheon of the Westin Chicago River North Hotel. County residents honored included RoyA. Olson, Lake Forest; John H. Bickley Jr., Long Grove; Asher Stern, Riverwoods, Mark R. Lidschin and Donald T. Morrison, Waukegan.

Looking for helpers

State Sen. Bill Brady (R-Bloomington) has adopted the strategy of flooding Illinois with nominating petitions not only to secure a spot on the March 21 ballot for governor, but also expand his name recognition. Outside of hard-rock conservative circles, Brady is the least known Republican in the field. The 44year-old downstater is getting the star treatment from conservative media voices. That may start and end with Tom Roeser, the veteran Chicago observer who writes newspaper columns and does talk shows. Roeser sees Brady, 44, as a "young Ronald Reagan."

Machinists Back Scheurer

Citing a betrayal of working people by incumbent Congresswoman Melissa Bean, the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAMAW) has endorsed candidate Bill Scheurer's bid to unseat her in the 2006 election.

The union made the maximum $5,000 donation allowed by law to Scheurer's campaign.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Antioch re-zoning too sporadic

My husband and I moved into Antioch, actually in 2002, and it seems to me that there are frequent requests for what appear to be sporadic re-zonings. After reading the article by Ginny Skweres on re-zoning in the Antioch News, I got the impression that key influential people or those who have the ability to influence in Antioch dictate the re-zoning, as I've not seen, heard, or been able to discover any long term community development plan that maps out the growth for our community. What was the point of the original zoning if a few influential people can have it changed at their whim to optimize their investments. My understanding of zoning is to allow planned growth in a sustainable fashion that is most appropriate for the community.

If zoning and re-zoning efforts, are as they appear, based on the benefit to a few individuals rather than the community as a whole and without a long-range mapped-out community plan, we could end up with an inordinate vacancies in our downtown, gridlock like in Lake Zurich, bars in residential areas (possibly with some with intoxicated individuals next to childrens' homes and play areas). The impact of development without a long range zoning plan can be devastating to a community. Gridlock is not just an inconvenience, but delays and increases risk to emergency responders. Without rules and guidelines, and especially a long-range plan, for zoning, at what point are bars, gentlemen's clubs, tobacco stores, etc. next to the playgrounds and elementary schools.

An effective community development plan requires not only a map of areas that may potentially be re-zoned, but also an infrastructure improvement plan to be sure that the resulting development based on re-zoning can be adequately supported without creating unnecessary hardships for the community as a whole. The timing of approvals for re-zoning should follow the appropriate infrastructure improvements and not lead infrastructure improvements. Infrastructure improvements are not just roads, bridges, and railroads, but include water, sewer, electrical service, and most importantly and adequately staffed and supported emergency response system with the ability to respond in a timely fashion to the needs of individual families and the community at large.

It would be a huge benefit to Antioch if our community leaders would develop and recommend a long-range re-zoning plan rather than handling each re-zoning request on a case by case basis, resulting in sporadic mixtures of occupancies. Antioch would greatly benefit from a long-range community development plan prior to any further sporadic re-zoning considerations.

Hollow protest

Why is David Bond so unhappy? Why is Don Rowden almost moved to tears over the new Round Lake "no wake" ordinance covering Wooster Lake? Why is Kirk Denz having fits over a conservation measure that enjoys the support of regulators and residents alike? None of these persons attack the substance of the Round Lake ordinance. All are reduced to railing against how it was passed. That's worth looking into.

As a former Wooster Lake Conservation and Control Association (WLCCA) director, I witnessed "President" Bond lead an effort having very few supporters, to gut the original WLCCA covenants and write them to stack the voter registry with individuals who don't own the lake bottom. WLCCA meetings, after Mr. Bond finagled the leadership from Rob Rosenlof, were lucky if enough people showed up to have a quorum. During this period, nothing related to the implementation of the recent two-year Lake County study was touched. All was focused on diluting control and opening the lake to wave runners. The real reason Bond/Denz/Rowden are opposed to the Round Lake ordinance, is they want to continue using wave runners (personal water craft) on this small, 100 acre lake.

The dangers and damage if such boating activity is allowed, is obvious to almost all of the other residents. In a recently circulated petition, support is overwhelming for the proposed Fox Lake ordinance which compliments the one Round Lake passed.

As Round Lake Mayor Bill Gentes stated, he does have, "...resounding approval of the measure" from Wooser Lake residents. That's backed up by the petition. When David Bond asserts the opposite, he engages in fabrication and offers no proof for what he's saying.

Past Director WLCCA Ingleside

Waukegan Savings president retires after 32 years

After 32 years of dedicated service with Waukegan Savings, Ted Stanulis III is set to retire. Upon graduation from Roosevelt University, Stanulis was hired by Waukegan Savings as Controller. Later serving in various capacities including Loan Officer, Compliance Officer, and Chief Operating Officer, he was elected by the Board of Directors as President and CEO in 1996 succeeding Margaret (Peggy) Gupton.

During his tenure as president, Waukegan Savings grew from a two-location bank to a three-branch institution serving every corner of Waukegan. Waukegan Savings expanded its 10th Street location and built a new branch at 1075 N. Green Bay Road.

Stanulis will be succeeded by current CFO Therese Hotze.

"It's been both an honor and a privilege to work with Ted for the past 10 years. I've learned so much from Ted and, thanks to his insight and experience, I feel prepared to assume leadership of the bank and further our reputation as the area's premier community bank," Hotze said.

Stanulis and his wife Patricia, both Waukegan natives, raised their family in Waukegan.

"What I have enjoyed most about my career is the opportunity to serve the local community," Stanulis said. "My family, like Waukegan Savings, is committed to Waukegan and Lake County. When you enjoy that kind of commitment, coming to work is not so much a job, but a labor of love and that's become the culture of Waukegan Savings."

Stanulis is a member of Rotary International and Past President of the North Chicago Rotary Club. Stanulis has also served as Board Chairman of Northern Lake YMCA, Board member of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce and Past President of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce.

Donohoe to host seminar series

Cathy Donohoe of the financial-services, firm Edward Jones wants to help local CPAs and attorneys meet their professional education requirements.

To do that, she is hosting a continuing education seminar for these professionals on The Changing Dynamics of Estate Planning from 1-4 p.m. on Nov. 9, at 1110 E. Washington St. in Grayslake.

All CPAs and attorneys must complete certain credit hours of continuing education annually to retain their certification or license. By hosting these seminars in Grayslake, Donohoe saves her business associates the time and expense of traveling to other areas of the state to meet the requirements.

Additionally, Donohoe enhances the knowledge these professionals possess regarding The Changing Dynamics of Estate Planning.

I know how difficult it can be to reserve time for travel when you are trying to serve a growing client ,base," Donohoe said. "I also know the importance of continuing education, so I'm happy to be able to help by hosting this seminar, and I look forward to doing it again in the future."

Similar to the continuing education requirements for CPAs and attorneys, Edward Jones investment representatives must complete continuing education courses each year.

After their initial training, which is one of the most rigorous in the industry, each investment representative must complete yearly courses required by the firm.

These courses are in addition to those required by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Edward Jones, the only major financialservices firm advising individual investors exclusively, currently serves more than 6 million clients.

The firm offers its clients a variety of investments, including certificates of deposit, taxable and non-taxable bonds, stocks and mutual funds.

The largest firm in the nation in terms of branch offices, Edward Jones currently has more than 9,000 offices in the U.S. and, through its affiliates, in Canada and the United Kingdom.

The Edward Jones interactive Web site is located at www.edwardjones.com.

Margaret Wood

Well known for her time and commitment to public service, she passed on Oct. 26, 2005. She was active her entire life in church and government. She was an active member of The First Church Christ, Scientist, Waukegan, and as a longtime resident of The Village of Third Lake she was instrumental in the emergence of the village, where she also served for years as a precinct committee person.

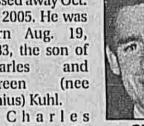

Margaret has been greatly respected by many who had the privilege of knowing her. She lived a full life, joyfully, and independently. Her strength as a leader, blended with her great humility and love for God served her well. Many tell of her independence and diligent work ethic. She was quite private, yet open with her support of others. She is remembered as a key member of her church, and her Village, Third Lake.

She was preceded in death by her husband, William J. Wood Jr., and their son, William J. Wood III. The family moved to Third Lake in the 1940s and left a mark of community service. Both she and her husband had served as Mayor of Third Lake. Her husband and son both served the public as policemen.

Margaret requested no service, yet if there is a desire to make a donation please send it in her name to Hilltop at 502 N. Waukegan Rd, Lake Bluff, IL 60044

Here's an IRS list you'll want to be on

The Internal Revenue Service has money for more than 3,100 Illinois residents who still haven't received their 2004 federal tax refunds.

An annual review shows 3133 Illinois taxpayers are due federal tax refunds totaling almost $2.3 million. These refunds were returned to the IRS as "undeliverable." Most refunds are from tax returns filed for the 2004 tax year, but some taxpayers are due refunds for more than one tax year. The checks range from as low as $1 to nearly $39,000. The average per-check amount is $731. Nationwide, 84,290 refunds totaling more than $73 million were returned to the IRS.

Hales said refund checks go astray for reasons that can vary with each taxpayer. "Most often, it's because a life change such as a marriage - causes an address change. If a taxpayer moves or changes their address and fails to notify the IRS or the U.S. Postal Service, a check sent to their last known address is returned to the IRS," said Hales.

Taxpayers can find out if they have an undelivered tax refund by visiting the IRS Web site at www.irs.gov and clicking on "Where's My Refund." To use this feature, taxpayers enter information that includes their Social Security number, filing status (such as single or married filing jointly) and the refund amount shown on their 2004 tax return. When this information is submitted online, taxpayers will see the status of their refund check and, in many cases, they also get instructions to resolve potential account problems. If a refund was returned by the post office, the taxpayer may be able to update their address online through the "Where's My Refund" application.

Taxpayers who have moved since filing their last tax return can ensure the IRS has their correct address by filing Form 8822, Change of Address, with the IRS. Download the form from the IRS Web site at www.irs.gov or request it by calling 1-800-829-3676.

Those who are due money include: Alcantar, Eliseo & Alicia Sanchez Allin, Michael L Alvarado, Jose & Veronica Benitez Alvarez, Rafael & Maria Bartlett, Sally W Bean, Kris M Belmonti, Mae Blanco, Elvira Blaser, Steven P Boarini, Jennifer J Bos, Andrew P Camacho, David Cantu, Euvelio Carballo, Victor A Castillo, Guadalupe & Jose L Cidriano, Gumercindo

Duke's Grill to help survivor of fire

Duke's Grill in Wauconda will be hosting a benefit to help the Pierce/Bray Family with the burden of their funeral

The Pierce and Bray families lost a mother, a daughter, a son, a grandchild, a friend, teammate, a coworker, and a classmate to a tragic fire on Oct. 5. Lost in this tragic fire was Gabie Pierce, Alexandra Bray, 9 and Michael Bray, 11.

Mike Bray, the father, the only survivor of the family. He suffers from complications due to diabetes and is currently on a waiting list for a pancreas and kidney.

Duke's is asking the public to join them to help support the family on Nov. 5, at 7 p.m., at Dukes Grill, at 476 W. Liberty St., in Wauconda. All cash donations and proceeds from the silent auction will be donated to the Pierce / Bray Trust Fund. Anne's Band will start at 9 p.m., with a $5 cover charge, free food and cash bar.

If you are interested in making a donation, drop them off at Duke's Grill or call Jacqui Hebein at 847-587-3290.

With an infectious smile, Bourbon is not someone to let destiny take charge of his life. After having spent many years with the same family, his life changed when they moved to a home with an electric fence. This new fence apparently created some insecurity for him and he became more wary of his surroundings and suspicious of people coming onto his yard unannounced, This medium-sized boy loves his walks and his beagle roots happily take over, nose to the ground accompanied by little roo-roos. Bourbon also gets

Libertyville company hopes to change facepainting for all sports fans tape has been cleaned off the streets and Cubs fans have finally returned to their natural state of pathetic self-loathing (just kidding!). While the 2005 World Series is quickly fading into popular culture's tome of memories, there is one way for Sox fans to preserve the glory, or for that matter all sports fans to literally wear their pride facenainting.

ally wear their pride – facepainting.

While the ancient art of facepainting isn't exactly something most people would associate with sports, William Reckus's Time of Your Life company hopes that it will become a staple in the coming years.

Reckus, the vice president of the entertainment company, heads Funtastic Faces, a form of facepainting that uses airbrush stenciling instead of traditional manual painting. According to Reckus, Funtastic Faces gives customers a professional-looking logo to show their team's pride without the wait. While the company has shown off its craft at numerous Chicagoland sporting events including White Sox, Cubs, Rush and other games, the idea for the stenciling is actually not a new one

"We bought the airbrush equipment for our picnics 10 to 12 years ago and it grew out of that," Reckus said. "What's good about it is that it takes less than a minute to do, but with traditional face painting from clowns and such, that takes three to four minutes to do." The use of stenciling also allows for numerous designs for the customer to choose from. Whether you're a Sox fan, Bears fan or even a high school sports fan, Funtastic Faces has you covered. The stencils themselves are either hand-cut by Reckus himself or for more intricate designs, laser cutting has also been used.

"We're able to come out with 10 to 20 different stencils, and it's not just professional teams either because we're also able to create any type of logo we want to," Reckus said. "We created stencils for the Chicago Rush for every one of their preseason games and have even done work for the Mundelein Mustangs. Facepainting is just so very popular and doing it this way, it's just so fast. It's not just for pro teams, it's for anything people want."

Apparently, the company has been very good at giving people want they want as Funtastic recently did work for nearly 1,500 people a game during the recent White Sox World Series run.

Unfortunately, people wanting full-body or even full-face jobs might have to stick to the tried and true method of having their drunken buddy slop on body paint because Reckus' company focuses on smaller logos to avoid annoying waiting periods for potential customers.

"You can do that, but we usually don't do that because we can put these on in less than a minute," Reckus said. "So you have an event with tens of thousands of people, with full face painting you might have long lines and that's not what we want to do. Instead, you're trying to give as many people the design they want in as short a time as possible."

The business might have grown out of simple company picnics, but Reckus's love of sports keeps the team logos coming.

"I've always been a sports fan, I'm a Bears season ticket owner, I've been a Cubs fan all my life," Reckus said. "It's just a pleasure to be a part

Are you ready for some (anything but) football?

f you're a regular reader of my column, by now you've undoubtedly noticed my propensity for ranting. However, I truly don't think that I'm the only one, especially in this profession that is akin to such behavior.

I believe there's another form of ranting that all sports writers are akin to. I'll give you a hint: it's fall, the leaves are changing, ridiculous costumes have received their mileage (yours truly made a pretty mean Hulk Hogan last weekend) and the first thing out of our journalistic mouths is football, football, football.

With the NFL season in full swing and many colleges making their final bid for bowl berths, we often forget the multitudes of other athletes laying their hearts on the line in different sports. Sure, many of our local football teams are also fighting for their playoff lives, yet they aren't the only ones who deserve recognition.

 Therefore, I want to give some of the much-needed spotlight to some other area athletes that have worked hard at perfecting their craft and have not received the amount of spotlight they truly deserve.

Lake County has long been a bastion for girls golf excellence with recognizable names such as Nicole Schachner from Libertyville and Kate White from Mundelein. During the state tournament played at the Stone Creek Golf Course in Makanda, they certainly lived up to their billing as Schachner took second in the state meet, shooting a 147 while White was locked in a three-way tie for third with a 148 score.

Of course, you don't have to be an All-Stater to make history. Case in point: the Grayslake cross country team. The Rams just brought home the first regional title in school history – despite losing athletes to the much-maligned school split with Lakes High School.

There's nothing like being the first and as such, the 2005 team of seniors Alex Mikrut, Scott Beckford, Andy Gerken, Dylan rayslake Central's had a tough go of it lately in the sports department. The much-maligned split with Lakes High School, coupled with the new Grayslake campus, has left the Ram coaches with depleted rosters and the heartache of having to witness athletes they've molded in other uniforms.

Despite the split, some Grayslake coaches have still found a way to win, as Rams boys cross country coach Joel Peebles and his team took home the first regional title in school history this season. The Rams wrestled the IHSA Antioch Regional title from the hosting Sequoits' (ironically, Antioch was also affected by the Lakes High split) grip by two points.

Peebles said his team was extremely proud to be the first in such an accomplishment, especially given the dramatic nature of a 50-52 finish in favor of the Rams. Grayslake veteran Alex Mikrut led the way for the team with a second place finish in the meet while Scott Beckord and Andy Gerken finished sixth and seventh, respectively. Nick Lane, Dylan Fischer, Michael Zantello and Jay Bullington were also in on the action during the Ram vic-

"Grayslake's boys won the IHSA Regional for the first time in the history of the high school," Peebles said. "The boys ran the best race of the year. Alex Mikrut led the boys to top honors. The race was a dogfight all the way, giving us a two point margin over Antioch."

While the team was unable to continue the success into the sectionals, Peebles was extremely pleased with the season as a whole.

"It's good feeling to know that our plans are going well to improve the program," Peebles said. "With guys like Alex Mikrut, Scott Beckord and Andy Gehrken, we were able to do some great things this season."

The recipe for the Rams has been a simple desire to surpass expectations.

"I think it's just a will to win that brought us this far," Peebles said. "I think we had a also had some kids that wanted to do even better than what everyone thought we could."

Peebles believes the Rams' recent growth as a program can be maintained if his athletes are willing to put in the work and the time.

take a heavy toll on the Grayslake team for the

"As far as the boys are concerned, there are a number of runners in the senior class that, when they leave, some of our accomplishments are going out with them because they've been so successful for us," Peebles said. "It's sustainable through them going out for track and such, but the splitting of the teams will be a big obstacle to overcome."

The word split has almost become a cliché next year as we had this year."

However, the departing senior class will within Ram country, yet Peebles has chosen to simply work with what he has. However, realism is also a word that is also always on the tip of the coach's tongue.

"The only thing one can do is continue to build the program that one has and hope for better athletes," Peebles said. "The seniors, they helped us achieve greater heights, but we'll see some boys move up. We need some team leaders. But, because of the new schools, we will probably not have as strong of a team here was a reason Wauconda residents did not see Katie Ellis running on their streets, preparing for the next coss country season, last summer.

A nasty leg injury sidelined her, and for the first time in her career, she had to take the time off. That all seemed to be a distant memory for Ellis, a senior, at the Schaumburg sectional. She qualified for the state meet by finishing eighth overall in 18:27.

"Leskowski (the champion) pulled away the last two miles. She battled Reagan Grumbley, and it was up to those to the last 400 meters. Katie was able to get past her," said WHS coach Al Willhoit. "It is amazing, since she did not put any mileage in this summer. She is very deserving of going to state."

Willhoit remembered that Ellis was the first WHS state qualifier since Ruth Waters. That was in 1980, when Waters made it for the second time. "We've had a few come close. Waters also qualified on the only team to do so, in 1979, my first year here."

"The goals are regional sectional and state. My hope is to get a top 25 and to medal," Ellis

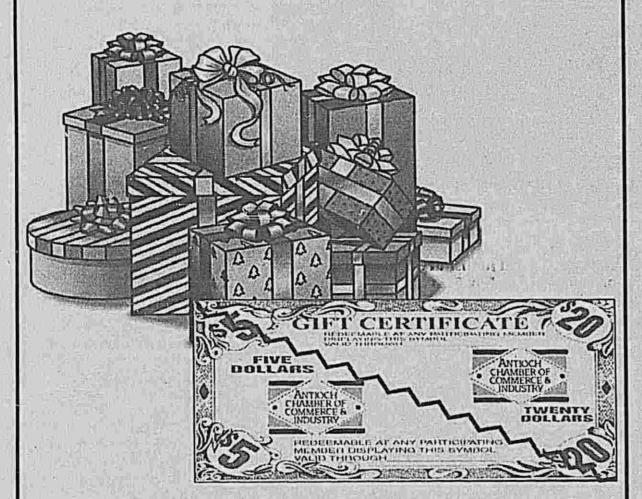

Ellis, due to the stress fracture, was not always even the team leader in finishing in the shoot, but was always encouraging teammates. Next stop for Ellis will be Detweiler Park in Peoria, where she will have a test run Nov. 4 before state meet the next day.

STATE QUALIFIERS

Congratulations to Wauconda senior Katie Ellis as she is the lone representative within Lakeland's coverage area to make it into state competition with an 18:27 run en route to an eighth place finish in the IHSA Class AA Girls Schaumburg Sectional. Ellis will be running Warren senior Marvin Bembry has been his QB's favorite target and quite deadly on the ground as a RB this year.

SATURDAY, NOV. 5, 1 p.m. In Gurnee, 500 S. O'Plaine Road

here has been thing on Blue Devils' fans minds since Warren's first and only Stevenson - a rematch between the two teams. However, there is one major roadblock standing in Warren's way before any Blue Devil/Patriot rematch can become a reality - a mountain of a roadblock in the form of the 9-1 Maine South Hawks.

The third-seeded Hawks come into the game with some serious momentum after shutting out their first round opponents, the St. Patrick Shamrocks, 43-0. Maine South, coached by Dave Inserra, carry a major tradition behind them as they have finished as the 8A runners-up in each of the last two seasons. In fact, the Hawks have only amassed two losses or more once in the past five seasons.

While Blue Devil coach Dave Mohapp is fully aware of his opponent's history, but the veteran coach is quite confident that his team can make a game of it. After all, Warren handed Maine South its only regular season loss in three years in a 31-21 victory in the second week of the season.

"This is a team with a great tradition including the last two years and they've also won two state championships," Mohapp said. "We had a good game with them earlier this year that we won, but that was back in September, so we might as well have played them last season."

In the last match-up Warren was able to give quarterback Tyler Knight some trouble, but the playcaller and his receiving core of Stewart Fuller and Mark Sagerstrom were able to put up 443 yards of total offense in the previous game.

Mohapp is also keeping Maine South's running back/cornerback Jake Bachmeler in his mind despite a strained medial collateral ligament that is supposed to keep him out of the game. On the defensive end Adam Fee is Warren's main concern as he amassed two sacks and a fumble recovery last week.

Not to be outgunned, Warren has some weapons of its own in running back Mitchell Moore, who is coming off of a stellar 245 yard, five touchdown performance against Lane Tech. Quarterback Joe DeVries has passed for 1,597 yards on the season and has amassed 16 touchdowns despite leaving last week's game without a passing score.

With so many quality players on both teams, the strength of both the Blue Devils and the Hawks has left even Mohapp in awe of the 2005 playoffs.

"This bracket is as strong as it's ever been, it's almost a shame that so many good teams are playing each other so early in the playoffs," Mohapp said, "It'll be a good football game and I know that we'll be ready for the game."

Round 1 of the playoffs saw 3 of 5 area teams get knocked out. But 2 teams are still alive, including the reigning state champ.

Stevenson (10-0) at Glenbrook South (9-2) Nov. 4, 7 p.m.

The Patriots continued their undefeated tear with a big 51-0 shutout against the Oak Park-River Forest Huskies in the opening round of 8A action last week. The Glenbrook South Titans' defensive back Dontay Marshall is riding high after a two-interception performance against New Trier and the offense, led by quarterback Ryan McGrath posted more than 400 yards of total offense.

However, it's the Patriots who are undefeated. Led by running backs Michael Breckheimer and Carl Johnson along with veteran quarterback Preston Earl are quite good at showing skeptics why they're 10-0. Of course, a defense that shuts out a team in the playoffs can't be that bad either. PORTER PORTER AND THE PROPERTY OF P.

North Chicago (8-2) at Hillcrest (9-1) Nov. 4, 7 p.m.

In 5A action, the fourthseeded Warhawks will face their toughest opponent to date in the 9-1 Hillcrest Hawks.

The Hawks carry the top seed in their bracket thanks in large part to the services of running back Darius Gates who Hillcrest's coach has touted as one of the best in the state.

Gates just might have met his match in the highpowered North Chicago defense led by linebacker Kevin Green.

In terms of intangibles, both teams are riding high with big first round wins as the Warhawks destroyed the fifth-seeded Westinghouse team 41-6 while Hillcrest out-manned Corliss 30-6 in their 2005 playoff opener.

Rock Island Alleman (9-1) at Johnsburg (7-3) Nov. 5, 1 p.m.

Johnsburg High's Skyhawks truly spread their wings (sorry, bird mascot references are inevitable on a sports page) after a thrilling 24-22 double-overtime win in the opening round. However, the 9-1 Alleman Pioneers just might have enough to clip their wings (apologies once again).

The Pioneers are coming off their own overtime victory with a 35-32 win over Montini Catholic. Senior quarterback Andrew Doyle will do his best to extend his high school career. However, the Skyhawks have some guns of their own in playcaller Trevor Bupp who is coming off of a ridiculous 311 yard, 2 touchdown game, Bupp, coupled with receiver Zack Decker could spell upset for the visiting Pioneers.

Senior Mike Culberson-Fehling has emerged as one of Libertyville's leaders on both sides of the ball.

FRIDAY, NOV. 4, 7:30 p.m. In Mt. Prospect, 801 W. Kensington defending 7A 'state champs Libertyville Wildcats find themselves in a rather unfamiliar role for Friday night's game against the Prospect Knights - the role of the underdog.

Libertyville is set to play the top-seeded Prospect team that is known for its powerful combination of a high-powered offense and a stifling defense. While the Wildcats have righted their offensive ship by scoring a combined 90 points in the last two games, Libertyville coach Randy Kuceyeski is still quite respectful of his team's 9-1 opponent.

'Our main goal is to try to slow down Prospect's offense both in yardage and points because they're known for their offensive strength," Kuceyeski said. "But at the same time, our offense has got to keep the defense off the field and put up some points for Offensive woes plagued the Wildcats in the first half of October, losing games against high-profile opponents Stevenson and Warren 31-0 and 35-7. Within those games, merely coming up short wasn't the problem as Libertyville's offense was held to 55 yards while senior quarterback Cameron Turner completed only one pass and gave up three interceptions against the Patriots.

For the Knights, Kuceyeski is sure such problems are a thing of the past. Last week's 48-14 victory against Rolling Meadows supported the veteran coach's claims as the Wildcat offense converted on five Mustang turnovers.

"Compared to about three weeks ago (against Stevenson), it's a totally different team, we're scoring some points when we need to and we're taking advantage of situations - something we weren't able to do back then," Kuceyeski said. "We changed a few things and we made some personnel changes ... and it's worked for us."

Libertyville has been headlined by Turner and Ryan Kennedy throughout the season. Turner has completed 85 of 185 passes for 906 yards while Kennedy has gained 383 yards, averaging 4.65 yards a carry along with 335 reception yards.

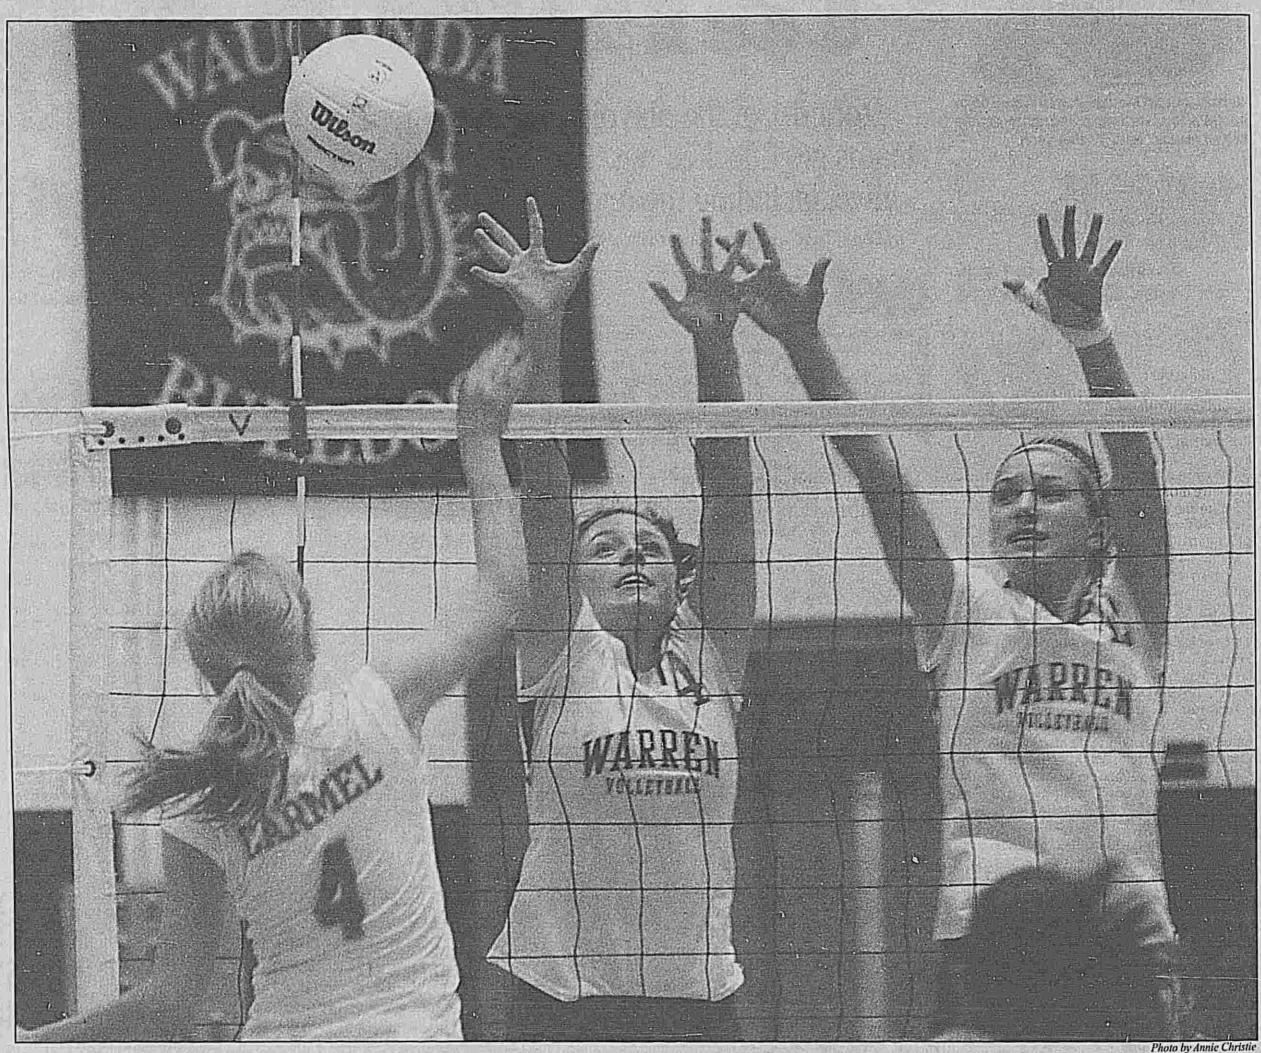

"Ryan Kennedy has been the guy that we've consistently gone to all season and we've also got Turner who's really turned it around from a few weeks ago," Kuceyeski said.

Prospect's high-powered offense is headed by quarterback Matt Bowman and halfback Evan Daniel. Both players have crossed into quadruple-digit territory in total offense.

"Their quarterback and tailback both have more than 1,000 yards each and they're both good players," Kuceyeski said. "The quarterback is as good on his feet as he is with his passes and I've even seen him kick a 50-yard field goal, so he's a pretty big piece of their scheme."

Tales from the net

For those of you who've had your football fill, I give you another sport where numerous Lake County teams have succeeded and fought to stay alive – the great sport of volleyball. There may not be bone-crushing tackles, but there are kills and you really haven't seen a block unless it's on the volleyball court.

hen many of her teammates were busy learning the basics of volley-ball, Warren High's Michelle Carlisle was interested in dance. As she made the switch her freshman year, she truly wasn't expecting much.

"It was kind of a fluke that I made the freshman team," the 5-foot-8-inch senior middle hitter said.

But with a regional title gained with a 25-18, 25-18 sweep of Carmel, Carlisle was doing a different dance after the game – a dance for victory

"We're thrilled. We played with so much energy tonight, it was so much fun," Carlisle said. "We're really excited to play like this. We're just going to keep raising our level. We know we have the offense, in practice we're pounding the ball right and left. The difference is on defense, where we were so scrappy, we were able to get more sets. It just builds on each other."

Carlisle was speaking as the celebration for Warren's first regional title continued on the court at WTHS.

The Blue Devils, now 25-7, made the Nov. 1 sectional against Lake Forest at Stevenson.

"They're a tough team, but as long as we're at the top of our game, I'm confident we can do it," said Jessica Wheeler, another senior and key cog in the Warren attack. "I think that we will be motivated."

Picking up the intensity on defense for more digs helped the Blue Devils, plus their

That's her job, she is one of the team leaders, a talker out there."

After the game, even Carmel coach Sarah Yeager had good things to say about Wheeler and Carlisle as she complimented the two standouts' skill.

Warren led 15-13 in game two, before extending the margin to 5 points, 20-15, on a kill by Carlisle. Ceisel and Wheeler finished off game two, with Erickson putting down a kill for match point.

Senior Pam Stanton had a good match for the Corsairs with five kills while Megan Josupait had 10 assists and Kaitlyn Howard had four assists in blocking. Carmel had downed Grant in the regional opener, while Warren beat Round Lake, which won a qualifying match over Lakes.

Libertyville downs Mundelein in regional classic

By Daniel J. Patrick

elationships with neighbors can be trying at times, as everything from your backyard to the basic way you live your life can be called into question. In the volleyball world, neighboring communities Libertyville and Mundelein have a long-standing reputation for giving Lake County some of its best teams and consequently, some of its best rivalries.

During last weekend's IHSA Libertyville Regional Final, the relationship reached a boiling point as the two teams battled it out on the court to a 25-17, 25-19 Wildcat victory. Libertyville was led to the promised land by Amanda Lugge who finished with six points, three aces, 10 kills and nine digs while teammate Siena Baldi added nine points, two aces, five kills and four digs. The Lugge-Baldi duo wasn't alone as Allison Bailey, Kelley Krumtinger, Mallory Purtha, Carol Kruckman, Emma Melendez, Ally Yarc and Lauren Formica all proved vital to the Wildcat victory.

While Libertyville did not disappoint in the win over the Mustangs, members of the team aren't looking at the game as a complete loss. Despite the season-ending loss, Mundelein coach George Dressen was happy with the direction his team took over the course of the season, righting the ship after a tough start.

"We had a pretty consistent season, but we started off 0-6 and we had nothing to do but go up," Dressen said. "Then we went undefeated at home and one of our goals was to be better than last year when we finished 15-20 and we did that with a 17-18 finish. We did make it to the regional final this year and last year, so that's definitely something to be proud of."

While the Wildcats had Lugge and Baldi, the Mustangs were led by Maggie Schroeder, Stephanie Smith and Heidi Haubrich. The trio couldn't quite get the job done at Libertyville, but they certainly had their fun in the 2005 season.

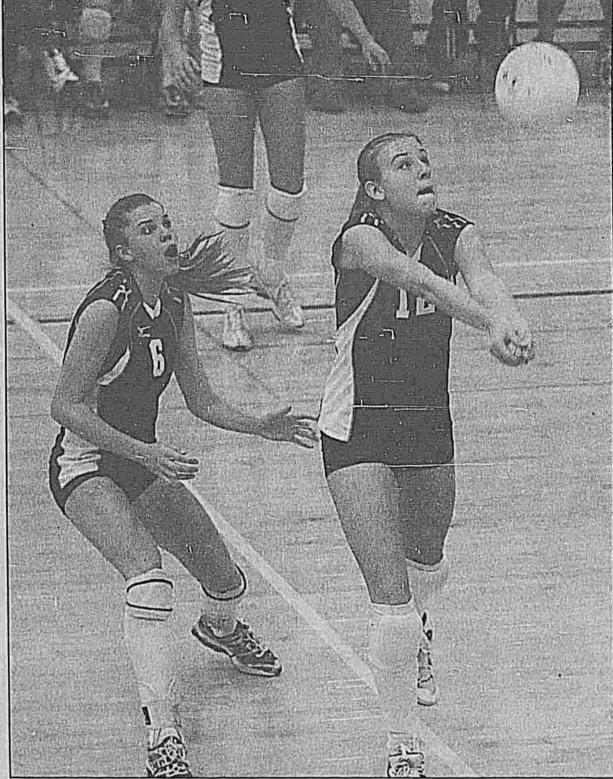

"It was the middles (blockers) who dominated our kill points when it's usually the outside hitters," Dressen said. "The win against Warren and Libertyville during conference play as a huge win, Conant was another big win and one of the important things we did have an extremely tough schedule and we were able to play with everyone on it."

According to Dressen, Mundelein has nowhere to go but up. But unfortunately for the Mustangs, Libertyville demanded a level of play that Mundelein simply could not live up to in the regional final.

"In that last match (against Libertyville), we weren't playing up to our usual level because the pressure of the final got to them a little bit," Dressen said. "The first game we were out of it, but in the second game we were tied 18-18 and had one mistake and just lost it from there. From then on, we did not finish as strongly as we were hoping to."

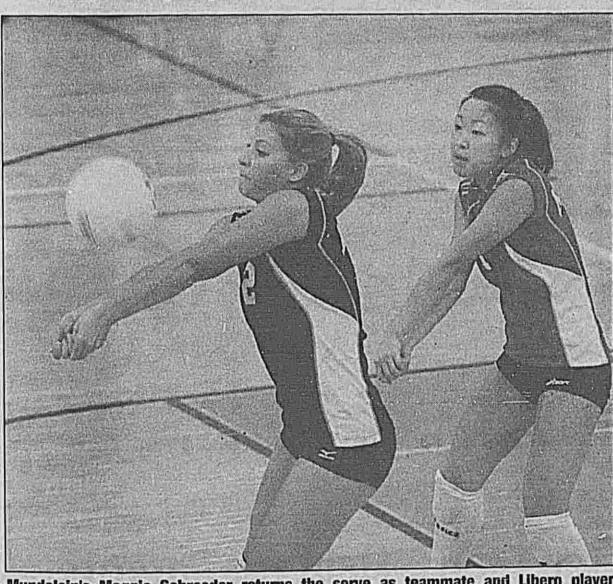

As much as Mundelein wasn't playing up to its potential, Libertyville was as the team was able to overtake a Mustang squad that stuck around throughout the match. As for Dressen, he only hopes the tough loss to Libertyville will galvanize his squad.

"One of the biggest things I instill in the girls is to turn a negative into a positive and I expect to see next year a stong gangbuster start as opposed to an 0-6," Dressen said. "The strength of schedule will remain the same with Libertyville, Warren, Stevenson and all the others. We'll just have to work on our game to be able to contend with teams like that."

Warren represents Lake County alone in final

t press time, the Blue Devil girls volleyball team is the last remaining bastion of hope for Lake County teams as they go to battle with the Stevenson Patriots for a berth in the IHSA Stevenson Class AA Super Sectional.

The Patriots are coming into the game off 34-3 overall record.

of an easy 25-12, 25-21 victory over the Vernon Hills Cougars in the regional finals. Within the Cougar game, Stevenson's usual weapons came out to play as Nicole Bajgrowicz finished 8-for-9 in attacks with five total kills while Katie Lundgren added five kills and 10 digs of her own. Kristen Baader was Stevenson's most dangerous weapon, racking up 12 kills in the lopsided victory. With the win, the Patriots are set to face the Blue Devils with an impressive 34-3 overall record.

Regardless of whether or not Warren is able to make it past the highly-ranked Patriots, the Blue Devils have enjoyed quite a ride in 2005. As it stands at press time, Warren sits at 25-7 thanks in large part to the services of seniors Michelle Carlisle, Brianna Erickson, Mallorie Ceisel, Jessica Wheeler and Danielle Mruz. Like all seniors, Warren's veteran core will be fighting for their high school varsity lives, so the match should be a spectacle for fans.

Before the 2005 season even began, Blue

Devil coach Julie Filippo made advancing to the sectionals her number one goal after an impressive 2004 season, the success resulted from a large number of returning battle-tested players.

"We'll be just as good this year," Filippo said before the season. "We were a little disappointed to not win the regional last year, so that's our number one goal."

Well coach Fillippo, mission accomplished.

Sequoits happy with season despite tourney loss

By Daniel J. Patrick Sports Editor

ntioch coach Bob Schenk has a lot to be proud of these days. Not only did his team finish off with an impressive 18-4-2 record, take home top honors in the North Suburban Conference Prairie Tournament trophy along with the Rockford-Boylan tournament honors and gave the Carmel Corsairs a run for their money in the regional, his team did it when everyone thought they weren't supposed to.

How did Schenk and his team do it? That one's easy - they did it with veteran leadership. That, and a personal bond with Schenk due to extensive experience with the class of 2006.

"We had a lot of good seniors on the team and that made a big difference because we started nine seniors throughout the year,' Schenk said. "These were guys that I've been in the program with since they started. When they were freshmen and sophomores, I was the sophomore coach, but I came up and took the team for this year, so there were three kids who had played with me for three years."

Obviously, such a prolific class will be hard to replace, but Schenk was also given the unenviable task of dealing with school splits as "Did (the split) hurt in the sense that there were a lot of kids out there who could have played? Maybe, but what it probably did was it dealt with depth; the team wasn't necessarily as deep as it might have been," Schenk said.

Depth is one thing, but leadership is another and Antioch had that in spades. Of course, a little talent won't hurt things either.

"Alex McKenzie, Alex Mayer and Jason

they were good, not only in the sense of soccer skill, they were also good leaders," Schenk said. "(Junior) Brett McKenzie was a great player for us, he's Alex's brother and they've been playing with each other for a while and it was good to have that. I think I just had a great group of guys who worked very well together, a group of hard workers and they went out believed in themselves and played hard."

With so many memories to choose from, Schenk was a little unsure as to which was the greatest moment of the season. So, rather than denounce one great moment, Schenk instead listed a number of defining times within the 2005 season.

"I think one of our early wins against Rockford-Boylan was a good time because that was a great team," Schenk said. "We beat them 1-0 and they're still alive because they've made it downstate."

"Winning the division against Wauconda was another big game that did a lot for us and when we beat Lake Forest in the shootout really prepared us for the shootout in the regional championship game, but unfortunately we lost the one against Carmel."

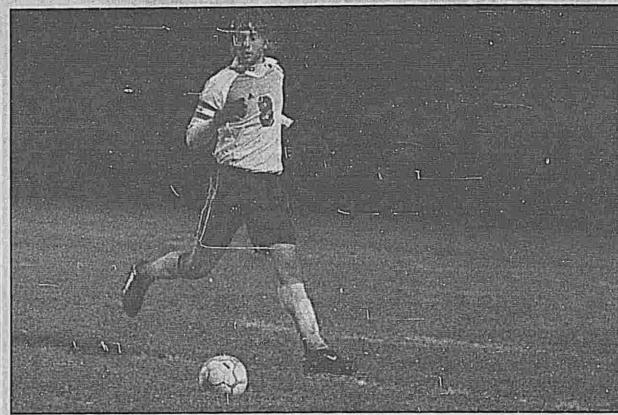

Impressive record or not, Schenk was simply pleased to see all of the pieces come together for Antioch this year. As for next year, Schenk hasn't really started to contemplate that with the glory of 2005 still fresh in his

"It was just a fun season and I was glad I had the opportunity to coach this team, especially in such a successful season," Schenk said.

While Carmel carried the weaker record into the game, momentum was largely on the Corsair side as the team had an impressive unbeaten streak coming into the game. The streak was largely unexpected, especially given the Corsairs' weak 3-5-1 start early in the

During the Fremd contest, the Vikings backed Carmel into a corner, taking the early 2-0 lead at the 10-minute mark. After the second Fremd goal was scored, the Corsair offense sparked to life, as Greg Hall scored a goal to bring the score to 2-1 less than a minute after the Viking goals.

Corsair Kevin Cook then decided to really make a game out of it as he scored in the minute 29 to knot the tally at two goals apiece.

Fremd will go on to play Urbana High School in the state tournament on Nov. 4 at 1 p.m.

The Mustangs also had their fate determined by a goal in the IHSA Class AA Libertyville Sectional as the Corsairs took the victory last Thursday. Corsair sophomore John

The fourth-seeded Mustangs finish off their season at 13-7-5. The Mustang loss gave the Corsairs their first super-sectional berth in seven seasons.

ELGIN COMMUNITY COLLEGE 4 COLLEGE OF LAKE COUNTY O

In junior college women's soccer action, The Elgin Community College Spartans proved to be too much for the CLC Lancers in the Region IV women's soccer championship. The Spartans dominated the Lancers on their own turf, shutting down the hosts.

"Sara Carlson was outstanding in her keeping us in the game to the end with 17 saves, some of the spectacular variety," CLC coach Dave Beck said.

While Elgin ended up doing all the scoring, Beck's original plan was to strike first and ask questions later. Unfortunately, this was not in the cards for the Lancers.

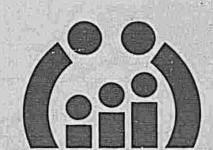

"Our whole plan, practiced all week, was to come out and be aggressive to get ahead," Beck said. "We came out completely flat. ECC got three in the first 15 minutes, so the game was effectively over."

The College of Lake County women's soccer team ended the season at 12-6 overall land

St. Viator's offense too much for Grant in 35-7 loss

By Steve Peterson

Sports Reporter

all started so promising, this playoff opener for Grant High, the school's first return to the playoffs in Class 6A. Unfortunately for the Bulldogs, the end was a different story as Grant ended up on the wrong end of a 35-7 score in the playoff opener against the highly touted St. Viator Lions.

In the first quarter, seniot Matt Behm broke free into the St. Viator secondary and ran for 63 yards. It appeared to be a certain score c. the game's third play, or at least a shot at the red zone. But unfortunately, speedy Viator defenders Matt O'Connor and Jack Madden caught up with Behm, and one knocked the ball loose and while O'Connor made the recovery.

St. Viator then showed it could run its offense based on the run and the pass in building a 29-0 lead in the first half en route to a 35-7 win. The Lions showed why they were runners-up in the ESCC this season by finishing off the Bulldogs with 572 yards in total offense, including 494 on the ground.

"They had taken the passing game away from us. But we like to run first, that's how we win," Viator Coach Chris Kirkpatrick said.

Viator scored first on a 35-yard TD run from QB Jared Funk, went to the ground again on a 10-yard run by junior Pat McAvoy, a 12yard run by Vince Sabetello and a 50-yarder on a reverse by O'Connor. Funk completed the scoring on a 15-yard TD run by Funk.

The Bulldogs gained confidence in the second half, as it was a 0-0 stalemate in the third quarter. Behm scored the Bulldogs lone TD on a 3-yard run in the fourth quarter. Behm was the Grant leader on offense, with 186 yards. Senior Joe Barczak had one more strong game receiving, catching 96 yards in passes from QB Rick Howell, Grant did execute an on-side kick well, as Dan Huetra recovered his own kickoff. The Bulldogs (5-5) did receive an INT by junior Ryan Wisniewski.

O'Connor's interception on the next drive led to the second TD by the Lions (9-1).

"They made mistakes, but we made a few, too, such as the on-side kick and the fumble. We were complacent in the second half. If he (Behm) scores on that first series, it's a totally different game," Kirkpatrick said.

Despite the loss, there was a lot to be proud of in 2005. Grant had a five-game winning streak this year after a loss in week one. The Bulldogs also showed their resilience numerous times this season as they accumulated come from behind wins over Milwaukee Bay View, Antioch and Round Lake.

"I'm just so proud of our kids. From the beginning of the year, no one gave us much of a chance with our returning talent, but we made the playoffs because we worked hard and preservered as a team. We had no significant problems outside of football, and that is due to our senior leadership," Grant coach Mark Barczak said.

victory against Lane Tech

By Daniel J. Patrick

ecovery hasn't been a very familiar word for the 9-1 Warren Blue Devils all season long, yet that's exactly what they had to do in last Friday's 8A playoff opener against the 6-4 Lane Tech Warhawks. Not only were the Blue Devils licking their wounds from the 35-34 double-overtime loss against the Stevenson Patriots, they were also forced to rebound from Lane Tech striking on its first drive of the game.

Warren was forced to play catch-up, if for only one drive, as Warhawk quarterback Matt Richard scored on a 20 yard pass to Xavier Torres to give them the early 6-0 lead. As for Warren, the wounds suddenly healed as the Blue Devils then blanked their opponents for the rest of the contest while putting up 48 points of their own.

Warren coach Dave Mohapp said that it was good to see his team put the tough Patriot loss behind them with the impressive opening round victory.

"Our goal was to win that (Stevenson) football game and when we didn't, it really affected the team," Mohapp said. "They were a little down, but we've learned a lesson and it was better to have that loss in the regular season than in the playoffs." One player that not only learned a lesson but earned his doctorate was running back

"it was better to have that loss in the regular season than in the playoffs.'

Dave Mohapp Warren football coach lived up to his billing as he led the team with 245 yards and five touchdowns on only 19 carries. For the mathematically inclined, that boils down to 12.9 yards per carry as Moore scored double-digit yardage touchdowns four

The tailback started out the game on the right foot as he scored a 68-yard touchdown in the first quarter, capitalizing on a Mike Slack interception at the Warren 32. Moore also scored on a 38-yard run and a 23-yard run in the third quarter and caught a 40-yard pass in the game.

Senior running back Ryan Koehn shared Moore's sense for theatrics, scoring his own 38-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. Fellow senior running back Marvin Bembry started the onslaught with a 10-yard touchdown for Warren's first score in the game.

With all that rushing, Blue Devil quarterback Joe DeVries wasn't put under much pressure, but completed 5 of 6 passes for 104 yards.

On the Lane Tech side of the ball, the Indian offense was only able to put up 248 yards as Richard finished the game with 167 vards on 15 of 31 passing. Mitchell Moore. The highly-recruited senior

Johnsburg pulls off barnburner win in 5A classic

By Steve Peterson

Sports Reporter

fter pulling off a 24-22 double-overtime win against Geneso, Johnsburg hopes to keep its pos-season magic going with another shot at Rock Island Alleman.

The Rocks knocked off Johnsburg last year in the Class 5A playoffs in the second round, 35-31, at JHS.

Johnsburg needed strong, dramatic plays to pull off the upset on the road last week. It was not secure until quarterback Trevor Bupp scored from 1-yard out in the second overtime. Zack Decker then completed a pass from Bupp to Josh Feld for the game-winning two pointer. Bupp passed for 300 yards on 24of-39 for 311 yards and two TDs.

Johnsburg enters the second round game at 7-3 and the contest against Alleman will be at 1 p.m. Nov. 5 at the JHS field.

The Skyhawks have bounced back to finish strong, with a 6-3 record going against Geneseo, 8-2.

JHS coach Jason Aubry said a key was some defensive changes made in the second half of the season, focusing more on speed. The new focus must have worked as the Skyhawks concluded the season in strong style with a 28-12 win over Harvard.

"It will be a key for us to score first and not play catch up and allow them to do what they do best, which is run the ball. They run from the same formation that we have seen all year, but they run four or five plays and do them very well," Aubry said.

The Skyhawks are led by Bupp who averages 314 yards per game through the air and has totaled 3,135 yards through the air this season. However, the coaching staff would like to see more than just impressive passing numbers from the team.

"We would like to get our running game up from 40 to 100 yards per game. We average 420 yards per offense, but 352 is through the air," Aubry said.

Decker, who has become one of Bupp's favorite targets, caught six passes for 119 yards and two touchdowns against Harvard.

"He is so athletic. He can catch the ball, and he can run down the sideline," Aubry said.

Libertyville's offensive woes end in 45-14 victory

By Daniel J. Patrick

sually for sports fans, the fourth and fifth seeded playoff games are the best for an all-around thrilling contest with evenly-matched teams. However, the Libertyville Wildcats didn't give the fans too much in the suspense department in a 31point destruction of the Rolling Meadows Mustangs last Friday night.

The defending 7A state champs played up to their title, scoring 21 points in the first quarter alone and all-but-burying memories of embarrassing regular season losses against Warren and Stevenson. Libertyville coach Randy Kuceyeski attributed the big win to his players righting the offensive ship.

"I'd have to say that after watching that performance (against Rolling Meadows), we've completely turned it around offensively," Kuceyeski said. "Putting up 45 points in a game is completely different from what it was three weeks ago (in a 31-0 loss against Stevenson) and that's a good thing to see."

Offense wasn't the only thing that was clicking for Libertyville in the game with defensive veteran Michael Culberson-Fehling forcing a fumble in the first play of the game. Luckily, sophomore Bobby Boatman was there to capitalize on the strip, giving the Wildcats the ball and eventually leading to a Libertyville

Fumbles plagued Carmel in a tough loss as the third-seeded Corsairs (7-3) fell in the opening round of the 7A playoffs for the first time in five seasons. Highland Park (7-3) took away the victory after forcing five turnovers in the game.

It didn't take long for the Giants to strike as the Corsairs gave up a costly fumble in the first quarter that was returned by Highland Park linebacker Chalmers Oscar for 43 yards and the game's first score. Despite the turnover, the Corsairs were able to make a game out of it after a 38-yard touchdown run by junior running back Jim Potempa followed with a score by a 19-yard-rushing touchdown for Sean Lees, giving the Corsairs a 13-10 lead into the locker room for halftime.

Unfortunately for the Corsairs, it wouldn't last as the Giants exploded in the third quarter to the tune of 21 points in that stanza alone.

The burst was due to Highland Park's running back Matt Kornblatt, who scored on 68-, 12- and 2-yard runs, respectively.

CRYSTAL LAKE SOUTH 48 ANTIOCH 3

The Antioch Sequoits (5-5) ended up on the wrong side of a 48-3 rout against the Crystal Lake South Gators, ending Antioch's 2005 playoff run. The Gators (9-1) were led by senior playcaller Nick Rieke, who turned in an extremely-efficient passing game, finishing 7of-10 for 198 yards and two scores. Crystal Lake South turned on the afterburners early in the game, scoring 42 of their 48 points in the first half alone.

South made a point of taking Antioch out of contention early as the Gators followed up a 81 yard scoring drive with an onside kick, which was recovered by Crystal Lake's Frankie Recchia, leading to the Giants' second score in the game.

Unfortunately for the Sequoits, Antioch was unable to put points on the board until a 40-yard field goal by Tyler Horne ended the shutout with 15 seconds left in the game.

LIBERTYVILLE

touchdown. Culberson-Fehling was stellar in the game, sacking Rolling Meadows quarterback Bryan Moson three times and forcing two fumbles.

Good defense usually leads to quality offense for good teams and the Wildcats did not disappoint, capitalizing on five-of-six Mustang turnovers in the game. Libertyville quarterback Cameron Turner found the endzone twice, once on an 11-yard run and once on a 68-yard pass to, you guessed it, Culberson-Fehling.

Rolling Meadows simply could not stop the Wildcats in the game as Libertyville managed to score in every quarter while blanking Lake Zurich in the first and third stanzas.

According to Kuceyeski, such a turnaround could not have come at a better time for the returning state champions as they will face a formidable opponent in the top-seeded 9-1 Prospect Knights.

"I think we're in a playoff mode where everyone's focused and they're in the right mindset for these games," Kuceyeski said. "If we can't play this week, we're done and I think that all of the players know that."

Libertyville improves to 7-3 while Rolling Meadows ends its season at 6-4.

IHSA CLASS AA GIRLS SCHAUMBURG SECTIONAL

Unfortunately for Lake County fans, no teams were able to make the cut into state competition in the Schaumburg Sectional. Carmel led the Lake County representatives with a seventh place finish and a 209 score, missing the sixth rank by a mere nine points. Mundelein, Libertyville and Warren gave their all, but came up short in the meet, finishing in the 10th through 12th place spots.

IHSA CLASS AA GIRLS ANTIOCH REGIONAL

Apparently, the Lakes school split didn't hurt any of the teams involved as every team has advanced past the opening round of the tournament. As for the regional as a whole, Warren took top honors by a convincing margin, placing ahead of nearest rival Grant by 30 points. The Antioch squad was the only other team to finish in the double digits with Grayslake and Lakes High will both get their chances to extend the season. Unfortunately, the Round Lake Panthers were unable to make the cut with a 260 final score.

ALOOKBACK

Lake County history from the Lakeland Archives

Members of the Concerned Citizens Committee gathered in a final quest for the support of Gravslake residents on the tax referendum before the Nov. 5, 1985, election. They canvassed village neighborhoods.

30 YEARS AGO • 1975

Residents of the Oakwood Subdivision around Darlene Drive in Gurnee came in force to a Gurnee village board meeting with their concern over Marriott developer's plans for a picnic area, which was proposed to be located 300 feet south of the property

The rapid pace of the construction for the Great America Theme Park by Marriott apparently put the developers in a bad position with those residents and the village officials as they moved into the proposed picnic area to begin creating their shelter facilities.

"Until we get a plan that will provide for proper screening we will not issue a permit," then-Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton told residents.

20 YEARS AGO • 1985

Residents in Grayslake School District 46 voted overwhelmingly to pass a referendum in the Nov. 5 elections to raise their taxes by 80 cents from $1.21 to $2.01 per $100 assessed evaluation of property in an effort to support the financially struggling school district

A total of 879 residents voted for and 741 against the passage of the referendum. In the three previous elections, the question of a tax increase to support the Dist. 46 education fund had been repeatedly voted down by a narrow margin of votes.

15 YEARS AGO • 1990

Residents in the unincorporated areas of Lake Villa Township were able to get curbside recycling after a ballot showed 1,051 residents voting yes and 964 voting no.

"I'm really pleased our people are really concerned about the environment," then-Lake Villa Township Supervisor Sue Hanson said about the referendum passage. "Now I have a lot of investigating to do (about the best way to recycle curbside). My work is cut out for me."

CLC approves new faculty positions for next year

The College of Lake County board of trustees approved the creation of four new full-time faculty positions for the 2006-2007 academic year.

It said the four positions were needed to expand counseling services at the Southlake Educational Center and to accommodate enrollment growth in the criminal justice and mathematics programs, as well as to develop a new program in medical office assisting.

In addition to the new positions, the college plans to hire eight other faculty members for the 2006-2007 academic year, replacing four retiring instructors and filling four other faculty vacancies.

"In the last several years, many long-term faculty at the college have retired, and this trend is continuing this year," said Dr. DeRionne Pollard, vice president for educational affairs. "As in recent years, we will conduct a nationwide search for the new and replacement faculty positions. We are looking for individuals with strong academic credentials and teaching talent who will reflect the diversity of our student body."

Smoking policies changed

The board adopted a more restrictive policy on smoking. The revised policy prohibits smoking and use of tobacco products inside college buildings and vehicles, and restricts smoking areas to designated entrances at the back of buildings on the Grayslake campus and to designated outside areas on the Lakeshore Campus.

At the Southlake Educational Center in Vernon Hills, smoking will be allowed only in the parking lot.

Previously on the Grayslake campus, smoking was allowed inside a designated area adjacent to the game room off Lancers cafeteria and in designated areas outside entrances. At the Lakeshore Campus, smoking was previously allowed inside the North Building in a designated area on the lower level. At the Southlake Educational Center, smoking was previously allowed outside the building entrance.

"The new policy responds to our concern to protect the health of our college community, while also respecting individuals' rights," board chairman William Griffin said after the meeting.

Tax levy approved

In other action, the board approved a resolution estimating the college's 2005 property tax levy and authorized a public hearing on the levy. The hearing will be on Nov. 22, at 7 p.m. in the board room on the Grayslake Campus.

The total property tax levy for 2005 is estimated at $47,826,183. The projected tax rate will be 19.9 cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation, down from 20 cents in

Grants accepted

CLC also accepted a $25,000 Homeland Security Initiatives grant from the Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity.

The grant is a partnership involving Michigan State University, Lincoln Land Community College and John A. Logan College. Each of the partners will provide emergency preparedness training for local businesses in their areas. CLC is the fiscal agent for the grant.

Other grant action included accepting $24,395 from the Illinois Board of Higher Education for the operation of a Minority Transfer Center to assist students in preparing for transfer to four-year universities and col-

Also, the board accepted an additional $14,620 from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity for the college's Small Business Development Center, bringing the total grant amount to $100,120.

Additionally, the board accepted a grant for $12,580 from the Illinois Community College Board to provide a paraprofessional test preparation course for 150 prospective and practicing teacher assistants from throughout Lake County.

A mother knows what it means to care.

And mothers rate our care the best.

Maternity patients rank Lake Forest Hospital in the top 1% of Chicagoland hospitals as reported by the independent and authoritative Press Ganey Associates Inc.* And it's small wonder.

Our spacious, all-private Family-Centered Maternity suites are designed to help us deliver the perfect experience every mother is expecting. We have a Level 2-plus Special Care Nursery. All the attending physicians at our dedicated Pediatric Unit are board-certified specialists. And this is one of the few hospitals where a pediatrician from Children's Memorial Hospital and at least one staff obstetrician remain on the premises all through the night, every night, just in case. Because you can't care if you aren't there. Ask any mother.

Seven weight of slash seven weight of slash soaring home heating bills

he bad news from Hurricane Katrina is now spreading across the country. The Department of Energy states natural gas prices will leap up to 71 percent this fall and winter, due to damage caused by the storm. This translates into a $600 jump in home heating for most homeowners, according to the Georgia Public Service Commission. Now is the time to give your home a "check-up". Here are six tips from the Comfort Institute to make your home an energy sipper instead of a gas guzzler!

1. Have your duct system tested for air leaks. Many assume that windows and doors are the major cause of a home's energy wasting air leaks. But according to recent research by the Department of Energy (DOE), gaps, joints and disconnections in the typical home's duct system are much more significant. The DOE states that the typical duct system loses 25 to 40 percent of the energy put out by the central furnace or heat pump. Authorities recom-mend having a heating contractor test for leaks and then seal them with a brushed on fiber-reinforced elastomeric sealant. Duct tape usually dries out and fails. It turns out duct tape is great for many things, but sealing ducts isn't one of them!

2. Ask your contractor to perform an Infiltrometer "blower door" test. The blower door is a computerized instrument originally invented by the Department of Energy. It pinpoints where your home's worst air leaks are, such as duct leaks, and also measures how leaky the overall house is. Most homes have the equivalent of an open window in combined air leaks. Many heating contractors offer an Infiltrometer test as part of a "Whole House Health & Comfort Checkup" that also checks insulation levels and overall duct performance.

3. Close your fireplace damper. Did you remember to close it last time you used the fireplace? Shut it now or waste precious warm air all winter long!

4. Replace your furnace or heat pump air filter. Most systems need this done every month to ensure safe and efficient operation. Keep forgetting to do it? Ask your contractor for information on an extended surface area whole house air filter that only needs to be replaced once a year. It also does a far better job of keeping your equipment and the air in your home clean.

5. Have your heating system cleaned and tuned. A pre-season tune up is a great investment. It reduces the chances of breakdowns on cold winter nights, improves safety, and more than pays for itself through more energy efficient operation. For a free report: "How To Identify a Good Heating and Cooling Contractor," go to www.comfortinstitute.org.

6. Install a programmable set-back thermostat. Turning down the thermostat 8 degrees for 8 hours a day will save 8 percent on home heating costs. An easy way to take advantage of these savings is to lower the thermostat temperature while away from home or sleeping. Ask your heating contractor about new models which are much easier to program.

7. Consider replacing your old furnace or heat pump. Just like a car, heating and cooling equipment doesn't last forever. Is your system more than 12 years old? Planning to stay in your home more than a few years? Many authorities recommend replacing it before it fails permanently. A new system is safer, improves comfort, is more dependable and creates less air pollution. New units pay for themselves over time as they are up to twice as energy efficient. However, government and utility research has found that over 90 percent of newly installed high efficiency systems have energy wasting mistakes. Do some homework before talking to contractors. For more information, visit www.energystar.gov and www.comfortinstitute.org. Print out the free Comfort Institute report "Tips and Cooling System."

The Infiltrometer instrument pinpoints where energy wasting air leaks are, and Secrets To Buying A New Heating and measures your home's fresh air exchange rate.

About the cover:

Fireplaces have gone from options in new home construction to high priority items in the Lakeland area. If one fireplace is a must (usually the centerpiece of a formal living room), two fireplaces are desirable. Woodburning or gas, a burning flame spells comfort and style in a family room. Fireplaces are moving up rapidly on options for creating a gracious bedroom, especially if sitting room place is provided.

Make gutter cleaning safer and easier

obody enjoys gutter cleaning. But it's much more important than many homeowners think. Rain flowing over windows, doors and siding can rot fascia as well as door and window framing. It can erode the soil around your home and damage its foundation, and also cause a wet basement. To help keep gutters operating properly and to protect your home investment, try these tips:

1. Think safety first. Always use a solid, quality ladder to reach your gutters. Safety glasses and gloves are a good idea, too. And watch out for power lines.

2. Use the right tools for the job. In addition to Using the right tools makes a container to hold gutter debris, you'll also need a gutter cleaning easier and tool to scoop it out. The Gutter Getter Scoop from Working Products, Inc. is a good option. It's flexible and shaped to fit the gutter, plus it will keep your hands away from the debris.

3. Don't overreach. Overreaching can destabilize your ladder and cause you to fall. Instead, consider using a special tool to extend your reach. The Gutter Grabber is a cleaning tool on an extension pole that lets you clean up to 18 feet of gutter without moving your ladder.

of your Gutter Grabber can help get the debris out of the spout. Then, use a garden hose to flush out any remaining debris. For stubborn clogs, it may be necessary to remove the downspout and back-flush it with the hose. Covering your downspout with a strainer such as the Gutter Getter Big Top Downspout Strainer will help reduce future clogging.

5. Clean gutters anytime they need it. Most homeowners know they need to clean their gutters in the fall. But now that you understand the importance of gutters, you'll see it's vital to clean them out anytime they are full. To protect the value of your home, keep your gutters clean throughout the year.

vaulted and with the glow of the fire, the living ing bedrooms. The master suite has a large room will become a restful room to guests and bathroom with an oversized shower and a walk-in closet. A large window overlooks the family alike.

Built-in utilities are close to kitchen, garage, master suite, and the stairs to the basement bedrooms. A half-bath is also centrally located. The kitchen with a built-in dishwasher, range and oven, and a corner pantry surround the nook, ideal for those morning coffee breaks. For those formal times, there is a vaulted dining room in the left rear corner. It has sliding glass doors opening onto a wood deck.

The Cogswell is a two-story hillside home. The vaulted ceilings, along with additional clerestory windows, create a more spacious feel than dimensions seem to dictate.

Downstairs the two bedrooms share a bath with the large family room. Plenty of storage area for all sorts of items is available downstairs. The large family room has sliding glass door that open to the backyard. This is an ideal room for the TV or for games the family enjoys. # Communications wiring report card gives homebuyers clout ew technologies make possible "dream homes" beyond your wildest dreams. Television displays are bigger and better. Whole-house audio provides unparalleled sound quality. The ever-expanding World Wide Web brings home whole libraries of information. Corporate private networks are reaching into home offices and transforming workaday lifestyles. All the while, broadband connections to the home are becoming faster than ever.

These technologies are already within the reach of the average household. But lack of home communications wiring system could trample on many dreams of digital utopia. Unfortunately, many builders are taking short-cuts and not installing the infrastructure that is necessary to implement these technologies in new homes. This infrastructure essentially consists of structured wiring installed behind the walls in a star configuration with terminations at a central distribution device.

Report card time

Recognizing that many homebuyers are not experts in communications wiring, the Copper Development Association has developed a blank "report card" on communications wiring. Modeled on the traditional elementary school report card, the form is easy to use and understand. It assists the homebuyer in asking questions about and comparing the level of structured wiring installed in the homes they are considering.

Based on the builder's responses and the homebuyer's expectations, the homebuyer assigns grades of "excellent" (E), "satisfactory" (S), "needs improvement" (I) or "poor" (P), to various aspects of the communications wiring infrastructure.

Feedback to builders

"Other tech-home rating systems are often too detailed or too technical for the average homebuyer to understand," says John Cowie, manager of Residential Communications Wiring for the CDA. "This report card empowers homebuyers with a quick-and-easy grading system. The homebuyer could optionally pass out completed report cards to builders. That would give the builders feedback about whether or not they are meeting the demands of the marketplace with respect to the communications wiring infrastructure."

CDA is also preparing a communicationswiring report card for apartment hunters. For more information on what you should be looking for in your new home and to download files of ready-to-use blank report cards, visit http://www.copper.org/applications/telecomm.

ILCA gives hints: What to do in November 2005

here are some things to do before winter really hits," advises the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) in its November hints.

Evergreen winter care

Watering still important

 Broad-leaved and needled evergreens need moisture to build up their winter reserves. Since evergreens retain their foliage during the winter, sunny and windy winter days may cause excessive transpiration (water being lost through the foliage). Regular watering well into the fall helps evergreens prevent winter moisture loss. Water now! The water thoroughly absorbed up into the plants when winhits. Also, mulch the root systo tems help hold the moisture in the soil. Water again durany ing warm spell during the winter months, if

needs to be feasible.

Burlap protects yet allows plants to breathe:

 Install a physical barrier, like burlap, to protect your evergreen trees and shrubs exposed to strong, drying winter winds or salt spray. Place tall wood stakes around each evergreen plant or a group of plants. Attach the burlap to the stake by sandwiching the burlap between the stake and a piece of wood lath.
 Secure the lath to the stakes with wood screws.

• If upright specimen evergreens, such as arborvitae and yews, are susceptible to damage from ice or snow accumulation, consider wrapping them with burlap. Tie the burlap to the main trunk at the base of the shrub. Wrap around the branches, pulling them upward as you go. Make sure the entire shrub is covered with the burlap and tied off at the top.

 If covering the entire plant is not feasible, tie any loose hanging branches to the main truck with strips of burlap to maintain a more compact form. This makes it less likely that snow will remain on the branches.

Anti-transpirants help:

 Commercial anti-transpirants sprayed on evergreen foliage is another option for protecting evergreens. They form a waxy barrier to prevent moisture loss. Apply before the temperatures go below freezing and, if possible, re-apply in midwinter if temperatures are adequate.

Plant protection

 Roots of perennial plants benefit from a layer of mulch to protect against winter temperature fluctuations (which can cause frost heaving), and extreme cold temperatures. After the plants have gone dormant (usually after Thanksgiving), apply a 3" layer of mulch. Winter mulch should remain in place from the time the ground begins to freeze until the middle of April. Spring varies from one year to the next. A good rule of thumb is waiting until the soft maples and elms are in bloom before removing winter mulch.

If deer are a problem in your area, consider applying a repellent which discourages them from feeding either because of the bad taste or offensive smell. In no way do repellents harm the deer. They encourage the deer to find food elsewhere. Be aware though, that the longer deer have been feeding in your garden, the less effective repellents will be.

Lawn Care

 Use a mulching lawn mower to shred leaves. The finely shredded leaves can be left on the lawn with no harm to the turf and add many nutrients back to the soil. Heavy accumulations of leaves will need to be removed, but mulching, whenever possible, greatly reduces the amount of time spent on the dreaded bagging of leaves and carrying them curb side for pick-up.

Minimize or eliminate foot traffic, vehicle traffic (bicycles for example), etc. on your lawn late in the season after it has stopped actively growing. The lawn simply cannot heal itself. This is especially important on frosty mornings while the grass is still green. If damage does occur from walking on frost-covered grass, it is possible that this damage, in the form of foot prints, can be noticeable through out the winter months.

 Once lawn weeds become dormant, herbicides are no longer effective, so wait until spring for your next herbicide application.

Creating Winter Interest in Your Flower Beds and Containers

 Wait until spring to cut back certain perennials since they can provide winter visual interest or food for birds. Leave the seed heads of Black-eyed Susans and coneflowers. Sedum and ornamental grasses can be left uncut in the fall.

 Decorate window boxes and outdoor containers with evergreen branches. Balsam firs inserted into the soil will hold their needles all winter. Other colorful selections include bittersweet and holly berries, or curly willow and red twig dogwood branches.

Create the illusion of spaciousness

Just because your living area is small doesn't mean it can't seem spacious. Here are some ways to give the illusion that you are living large:

Furniture: Choose small pieces with "open" designs. For seating, look for benches or couches without armrests. A love seat with two exposed legs is better than a large sofa with hidden legs. Choose a small round glasstop coffee table.

Accessories: Don't overuse accessories, and keep tabletops neat. The best way to create an open feeling is to have less clutter. Rely on mirrors (even floor-to-ceiling mirrors) and reflective surfaces to make spaces look bigger.

Color: Soft and light colors make rooms look larger. Avoid contrasting molding and door colors with wall paint tones. Too many colors can make a space look smaller. Paint your ceiling bright white to make it appear high.

Flooring: As with paint, use the same flooring throughout the space to create the illusion of spaciousness. If you can, run wood strips or tile on the diagonal. Diagonal lines appear longer than ones that are parallel or perpendicular to walls.

Windows: Window treatments should be simple. For example, billowy curtains will overpower a room and even invade upon the space you have. Instead, go for blinds and simple valances that give a neat, clean look.

Storage: You want pieces that go "up" instead of "out." A tall and narrow bookcase is better than one that's short and wide. Opt for a highboy over a triple dresser.
